Danger Passes At Halifax, Two Reported Dead

Displaced Population Return To Homes—Tension Relieved

HALIFAX, July 19 (CP).—Known death toll of last night's disastrous fire and explosions at the navy ammunition depot here was set at two tonight, with estimates of the number missing ranging from six to 12, as some 80,000 displaced persons returned to their homes after a night and day of tension.

One body has been found and identified, that of a sentry at the ammunition depot. A leading stoker aboard a barge tied up at the depot jetties is also listed as dead. Naval officials have not released the names of either men.

The homeward trek started at dusk tonight after Mayor Allan M Butler announced that the risk of further explosions was small and remote.

Vice-Admiral G C Jones, C B R C N, commander in chief, Canadian Northwest Atlantic, Mayor Butler, and Major O. R Crowell, director of Civil Defence, decided to allow the citizens to return to their homes anywhere in the city—thus abolishing restricted area—following a visit to the Bedford magazine this afternoon.

With the news that citizens could return to their homes if they wished, some of the tension which has gripped this port since last night has relaxed.

Throughout the day the fear that the main magazine at the Bedford dump would explode sent hundreds of citizens to parks and open fields at the far end of the city from the area where the explosions were occurring

The almost continuous thudding of minor explosions began shortly after 5 p m, A.D.T. yesterday, and continued until shortly after 9 a m, (7 a m, C D T) today Thereafter they were heard at intermittent intervals.

The minor explosions were punctuated four times by heavy explosions which shattered glass in buildings for miles around

The flooding of the main magazines put an end to possibilities that

Oregon Fire Rages Over Wide Area

Towns Threatened In Timber Burn

GLENWOOD, Ore., July 18 (AP).—More than 100 residents of this forest town loaded their possessions on army transports late tonight and prepared to evacuate as fire rimmed the hills to the west less than half a mile away.

All day dull painted military trucks have been rolling toward the firelines, but the orange monster which has eaten away more than 35,000 acres of forest land has not been stopped and now the residents are leaving. The army is staying to fight.

An orange fog hangs over the surrounding countryside for 50 miles, filtering through the light of the fire. The sun has not been seen in this area for more than a week because of smoke

Farther to the east, more than 150 farmer residents have started to move out as the strangely tinted fog rolls down the valley toward their homes.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 18 (AP).—A forest fire which has already enveloped 55 square miles of Northwest Oregon was raging today toward the tiny towns of Glenwood and Gales Creek

The blaze, roaring with such fury that it threatened briefly to trap 415 sailors, approached within four miles of Gales Creek—a town of 50, and about three miles of Glenwood—a lumber town of 500

The fire was raging in several directions, endangering a railroad and growing so quickly the state forester said it might continue until Fall rains.

A crew of 415 sailors were almost surrounded last night by flames which spread like lightning through the trees above the point where they were fighting Falling to the ground to escape the force of the blaze, they radioed for help and sprinkled the

LONDON, July 18 Attacks on Japan from sea and by air, says The Times' military correspondent, have reached an intensity that would have been incredible only a short time ago. The question for military chiefs now is whether the Japanese are conserving remnants of their air and sea strength to oppose an invasion which they believe to be imminent

It is possible they have some secret weapon, like pilotless airplanes, but it is remarkable their air force has not come into full-scale operation with the danger so great Discussing the possibility that Japan has big reserves of equipment, aircraft and warships, The Times' expert says, no commander of armed forces will hold up really substantial reserves while his country is nearing defeat

Only a few months ago experienced Allied staff officers in Europe were insistent that the Germans would offer desperate resistance lasting months, using 60 to 100 divisions in the so-called Bavarian redoubt Yet at that time the German army was little more than an armed mob.

Japan still has big military assets She has manpower and fanaticism. But they can be used only for tactics of desperation and the possibility that the enemy has something tremendous up his sleeve can be dismissed. The ruin poured on Japanese cities already would have brought it out before now if it had been there

British heavy bombers are joining the United States air fleets, increasing in ten the number of air groups attacking the Japanese homeland

De Valera Doesn't Like World Charter

DUBLIN, July 18 (Reuters) Prime Minister De Valera told the Dail tonight that, from a preliminary look at the United Nations' Charter, he did not see it was going to be any more effective than the League of Nations, and the small nations would not have the same influence they had in the old league

Suggesting formation of a confederation of nations to carry on effectively the work which the League of Nations had failed to do, he moved that a sum of money be provided for the league

President de Valera's "constitutional monstrosity," namely Eire a republic which in its external affairs acknowledges a king, has provoked much comment in the Dublin press, now freed from censorship

The Times quotes Irish newspapers, which describe Eire as a "phantom republic." One journal says no doubt De Valera will pursue further constitutional researches on the point of what Eire really is—doubtless for another seven years

Another opposition paper ironically describes the republic as a

Canadian Army to Dissolve as Field Formation on July 31

By ROSS MUNRO

Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, July 19 (CP).—The Canadian First Army, scheduled for dissolution as a field force July 31, has been a great army—one that Canada new status in the world and never failed in a single operation as an arms on the Western Front.

It was on April 6, 1942, that Gen McNaughton, then commander, probably announced at his Leatherhead, Surrey, headquarters that headquarters of the Canadian First Army had been formed

From that headquarters the army formation developed to its full strength of five divisions and two independent armored brigades formed into two corps

In a big park at Apeldoorn, Holland the army headquarters is beginning to fold up after three and one quarter years and will become headquarters of Canadian forces in The Netherlands

Probably within four or five days, Gen Crerar who led the force will say goodbye to his headquarters and come to England for a week or ten days before sailing for Canada, July 31 in the liner Ile de France Possibly some senior staff officers from his headquarters will be with him on the ship which also will carry drafts of long-service Canadians

With the army's life ending when its commander sails from England, the 57-year-old general will return to the Dominion not as an army commander but simply as a Canadian general

It is expected that Lt-Gen Simonds, now in England, will leave for Holland shortly to begin taking over his new command of Canadian forces in The Netherlands

As the army passes into history, it leaves behind a magnificent record It went into the line south of Caen Normandy, early last August and on August 8 struck with all its power to smash the Caen hinge in one of the greatest battles fought by Canadians in this war

Three Canadian divisions an armored brigade and a Polish armored division stormed south from Caen under a hot sun and the Canadian army won a resounding victory which was a big factor in the destruction of the German Seventh Army in the Trun Gap

Wheeling east Gen Crerar paced The British Second Army to the Seine Jumping over the Seine, the Canadian general sent his forma-

Jap Air Base In China Hit

MANILA, July 20 (Friday) (AP) The greatest Japanese airdrome in China, just outside the northern limits of Shanghai, was hit with 200 tons of bombs in a record raid on that sector by Okinawa-based tactical planes, a communique announced today

Other Far East air force raiders temporarily severed rail communications to the Japanese industrial city of Kagoshima on Kyushu, southernmost of the main Japanese Islands.

Medium and heavy bombers made the attack on Kiangwan airdrome at Shanghai Escorting fighters started fires at Tinghai airdrome, damaged installations on a nearby island, and swept south for attacks on enemy shipping off Taishan Island

One plane was definitely lost on the raid and another was listed as missing

Understanding of Viewpoints Gained

BOMBAY, July 18 (Reuters)—A better understanding of British and Indian points of view was reached by the recent Simla conference, although it failed in its objective of revamping the Viceroy's executive council, it was indicated today in statements from prominent members of the All-India National Congress and the Moslem League.

The conference, called by the Viceroy Viscount Wavell, ended Saturday after delegates failed to reconcile conflicting views of the proposed make-up, which called for Indians to receive all the 14 places except Viceroy and Commander-in-Chief The Moslem League had demanded sole right to name Moslem members—a demand opposed by the predominantly Hindu Congress party, which also includes Moslems

SPEAKER ELEVATED

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP) Hon Thomas Vien, Speaker of the Senate, today was sworn in as a Member of the Privy Council by the Governor-General in a ceremony at Government House

This honor frequently is given an Upper House Speaker when he has completed a term in office Today's ceremony aroused speculation that Speaker Vien soon might retire from the chair.

Primary Objectives at Conference Achieved

Big Three Leaders Reported To Be Making Good Progress

POTSDAM, July 19 (Reuters).—The Big Three have entered the second phase of their talks concerning Europe's future and tonight Prime Minister Churchill, President Truman and Premier Stalin dined together in the President's villa

It could be stated with a reasonable degree of certainty that the important primary objectives of their Potsdam conference had been achieved

The first indications that the conference was making good progress and that a number of decisions only awaited formulation in a proclamation came today with two significant announcements

That the three heads of state are meeting regularly and that the three Foreign Secretaries are holding daily discussions to map out agendas for each subsequent discussion between the "Big Three"

Attention was still focussed on German problems which, it was believed, were the main preoccupation of the "Big Three"

The Associated Press said there was speculation that Mr Truman was stressing the necessity of quick victory in the Pacific, arguing that the sooner Japan falls the sooner the United States can aid in stabilization of European economy and reconstruction of shattered industries

Australians Take Rich Oilfields

MANILA, July 20 (Friday) (AP)—Australian troops in a five-mile thrust seized the rich Sambodja oilfields Wednesday and the refining centre of the same name without a fight, it was announced today

The Australians quickly spread over the oilfield, one of the three major producing areas of Eastern Borneo feeding the now-wrecked refineries of Balikpapan

Fires roared in various parts of the field as the veteran Australian 7th Division drove northward into the oil-producing region, whose approaches had been bitterly defended by the enemy

The general condition of the wells was not known, but from the reports of the fires it was apparent that the Japanese had put the field to the torch

Surround U-Boat Near Argentina

BUENOS AIRES July 19 (Reuters)—A U-boat has been discovered and surrounded by Argentine naval vessels six miles off the coast of Mar de Ajo the Buenos Aires newspaper Critica reported tonight

Police were guarding the beaches to prevent anyone landing the newspaper said

Earlier this week Critica published a report that Hitler and Eva Braun whom he is reported to have married, had landed from a U-boat in the Antarctic Other reports suggesting that Hitler or other prominent Germans might have landed in the Argentine have appeared since a U-boat surrendered at the Argentine naval base of Mar Del Plata last week

Salute to Halifax

NEW YORK July 20 (Friday) (CP) In an editorial entitled "Guardian of the Gate," The New York Herald Tribune today saluted Halifax for the role it has played "during two Great Wars" and congratulated the Nova Scotia seaport on the low loss of life in Wednesday night's explosions at Dartmouth

Noting the importance of Halifax as a wartime outlet for supplies, the editorial recalled the explosion of a munitions ship in the First Great War which devastated much of the city with heavy loss of life and said "One can well imagine the terror that swept through the city on Wednesday night

"But Haligonians are a tough breed" the editorial concluded.

Council Requests Billeting Action

A resolution recommending that steps be instituted forthwith to prepare for compulsory billeting in Greater Victoria in order to secure adequate accommodation for returned servicemen was contained in a letter sent yesterday to D K Kennedy, emergency shelter administrator, by the Citizens Rehabilitation Council

The resolution, adopted unanimously by the council, reads as follows

"There exists in the Greater Victoria area a critical shortage of housing accommodation and action necessary to correct this condition in the near future has not been taken by any of the authorities

"Within 60 days the Greater Victoria area will be receiving a large volume of men and women discharged from the armed forces many of them in need of immediate housing accommodation

"Be it therefore resolved that this council strongly recommend to the director of the Emergency Shelter Administration of Greater Victoria steps be instituted forwith to prepare for compulsory billeting under authority of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, if such steps are found to be necessary in order to secure adequate accommodation for our discharged personnel"

Commenting on the resolution Forrest L Shaw president of the council said "This is the only major city in Canada that has not already started to build houses The problem of veterans' houses must be faced before the men arrive in large numbers.

"The time to do it is now If the matter is delayed until large numbers of veterans arrive it will be a hopeless task It will be the old story of too little and too late, he declared

FLOODS IN EAST

NEW YORK July 18 (CP)—Flood waters fed by a heavy rainfall today caused widespread damage in parts of New York State and New Jersey forcing several factories and war plants to close, ruining crops in many areas and disrupting communications and transportation.

"Clear Decks" Calls Wrens

HALIFAX, July 18 (CP)—The usually neat Wrens from H M C S Stadacona last night turned out on the parade ground dressed in pyjamas, bathing suits, sweaters and slacks The reason? A navy bugler had just sounded the call "Clear the lower deck," and with rumbling explosions coming from across the harbor the girls didn't waste any time in obeying the call

Only order given the girls was to bring one blanket, and within a few minutes they were aboard trucks speeding to Point Pleasant Park at the south end of the city

From there the Wrens were marched to the Gorsebrook R C A F barracks, the W D's quarters where they were kept for the night.

Chinese Rout Japs In Border Battle

CHUNGKING, July 18 (AP)—Thirteen hundred Japanese troops, striking across the Indo-China border in three columns, have been smashed back by Chinese defenders in a two-day battle, the Chinese High Command announced today

Aided by Indo-Chinese puppets, the Japanese attacked last Saturday from a point 13 miles northeast of Caobang driving at three towns on the Chinese side of the frontier but by Monday all had been knocked back across the border

The enemy, apparently nervous over Chinese thrusts into Indo-China, launched its assault from Tra Linh, two miles south of the frontier The battle raged at points south, southwest and southeast of Tsingsi Chinese road junction 15 miles north of the frontier.

This action flared 140 miles northwest of Moncay port city in the extreme northeast corner of Indo-China, which the Chinese had announced they captured a week earlier in a new invasion of the former French colony.

Here [illegible] This is the story Paul Reynaud wrote out of his [illegible] in a German prison [illegible] This is a man most deeply wounded opening his heart. The following is the second part of the introduction to the memoirs of Paul Reynaud.

War Premier of France

(North American Newspaper Alliance)

When I became Premier of France, after seven months of "Phony war" I tried to resist the plan agreed upon between the Allies five months earlier for taking our army of defence out of its trenches to advance into Belgium and fight in the open country

After the German army launched its May 1940 offensive I watched as head of the Government the dramatic developments which point by point I had foretold in the French Chamber of Deputies on March 15, 1935—five years earlier . . . The Belgian army, left isolated on the Albert Canal is driven back . . . our open northern frontier is attacked, our front breaks and because we do not possess what I called for in 1935 "a special armored corps capable of delivering a counter-stroke of smashing power equal to that of the attacker what I then foretold came about—all will be lost."

The "unbroken front" which our military leaders had proclaimed

Big Bombers Drop Tons of Explosives On Japanese Cities

600 Superforts in Raid on Industrial Centres—Oils Hit

GUAM, July 20 (Friday) (AP)—A record force of more than 600 B-29's struck four Japanese mainland cities and an oil refinery before dawn today with 4,000 tons of incendiary and demolition bombs.

It was the 57th fire raid on enemy war-industry centres. The attacks on the four Honshu Island cities of Choshi, Fukui, Okazaki and Hitachi, brought to 48 the number of Japan's industrial centres hit by fire raids

A branch of the Nippon Oil Company at Amagasaki, just north of Osaka, was the fifth target It was the tenth oil plant singled out for precision-bombing by the B-29's

Once before more than 600 B-29's flew in a mission against Japan, but the force in today's five-pronged raid was larger The 20th Air Force gives sizes of missions only in general terms and exact figures could not be used

The record raid in the campaign to wipe out all Japan's war industries came while the Allied fleet still roamed Japanese waters after raiding and bombarding Tokio area targets Wednesday and early Thursday.

Hitachi blazing for the first time from B-29 incendiaries was bombarded by warships of the fleet Tuesday night and early Wednesday.

The attacks on the other cities and on the oil refinery also were the first by the B-29's

As they split up to strike the targets with the smallest force assigned to the oil refinery, the Superforts ranged over a wide area of Honshu Island.

Hitachi is 80 miles north of Tokio, population 82,000, and is a new large and complex industrial community.

Choshi, the 61,000 population of which makes it the second largest city of Chiba Prefecture, is a great fishing port only 60 miles northeast of Tokio It is estimated to supply one-eighth of the basic Japanese food supply

Fukui, population about 100,000, is near the west coast of Honshu, about 200 miles west of Tokio, and is an

Fleet Units Continue to Pound Japs

Tokio Speculates on Purpose of Attacks

GUAM, July 20 (Friday) (AP).—Bombarding guns of United States and British Fleet units carried a battle challenge right in Tokio Bay yesterday and the Japanese, still declining the challenge, worried over where the next blow would fall.

The fleet was continuing its destructive rampage along the homeland's Pacific Coast into the 11th day, Tokio radio assumed

Tokio speculated nervously on whether the series of damaging attacks were "spasmodic" or preludes to a "quick" invasion

Fleet Admiral Chester W Nimitz' regular communique this morning gave the Japanese no hint of the answer It was limited to reporting harassing and neutralizing air strikes by Far Western Pacific forces, which sank 11 small coastal cargo ships and damaged five others off Korea and Honshu on Wednesday

The admiral made no mention whatever of either Wednesday's carrier strikes or the Wednesday midnight bombardment of Nojima Cape by a cruiser-destroyer force Presumably he still was awaiting reports of results from Admiral William F Halsey, Jr, commander of the combined American-British naval force

American cruisers and destroyers, which started shelling Nojima Cape

Fire Damages Bathing House

Fire, believed to have been started by children destroyed the entire top floor of the public bathing house at Gorge Park late last night Saanich firemen received a call at 10 20 p m, and had the blaze under control at 11 p m after laying 1,800 feet of hose from the nearest hydrant on Gorge Road

Flames shot 50 feet in the air and sparks caused spot fires nearby hindering firemen in their efforts to hold the flames.

The main floor was partially burned and the stairs were scorched The floats were undamaged

Firemen remained at the scene early this morning wetting down the burned section of the building Saanich police assisted by directing traffic

Vancouver to Build Huge Mobile Drydock

OTTAWA July 18 (CP) Munitions Department officials said today that it is to construct under contract at Vancouver a $3,500,000 floating drydock for the British Admiralty

The gigantic structure will be put to service in the South Pacific and is designed so that it can be towed on a long ocean crossing

Department officials said that the work is being undertaken under the mutual aid program through which Canada assists her war allies

Firm to Build Homes in City

Victoria Housing Limited a company to build homes for war veterans under the National Housing Act, has been formed by V L. Leigh, Luney Bros Limited George Wheaton and Williams, Trerise & Williams Limited

After a week of negotiations here with F W Nicolls, director of housing under the National Housing Act an agreement has been reached that the company will start work on the homes as soon as the contract is approved at Ottawa and the necessary priorities for men and materials are forthcoming

Officials emphasized that the homes will not be wartime houses, but permanent structures with furnaces and basements The company aims to provide houses at varying prices, but it was indicated that most of them would be built for $4,000 to $5,000

Plans and prices for the houses will be approved by the Dominion Government before construction starts When finished, they will be subject to approval by Government inspectors

Returned servicemen may purchase the homes from the company either for cash or through loans secured under the National Housing Act

The company plans to buy lots in various sections of the city

"There has been a lot of talk about nothing being done to provide homes for veterans," one official remarked "We have been discussing this for some time and now we are ready to go We only await Government approval and the priorities guaranteeing delivery of materials and the necessary labor," he explained

The same official claimed the company is the first of its kind in Canada to be formed under a new scheme recently proposed by the Dominion Government

It was pointed out that there was no limit to the number of houses that could be built The number constructed would depend solely on demand and the materials and men made available by the Government.

In view of the blanket of silence on the conference, the only topic that could be discussed with authority from Berlin was the German problem and its implications for future joint or unilateral action by the chief occupying powers.

Russian policy in postwar Germany is developing so rapidly and in such well-defined channels that it is possible to piece together several of the main points of what may be presumed to be Russian objectives in the consideration of German affairs.

Premier Stalin and his delegation are believed to be pressing for a co-ordinated Allied approach to these problems. In many ways, it seems, the Russians are putting to the other Allies the point of view of the new German political parties formed in the half of Germany.

The Russian aims are believed to be:

1. Establishment of democratically constituted political parties, under the control of the occupying powers but controlling their own members and branches in all parts of Germany.

2. Replacement of the vague and all-embracing statements made in the first Allied declaration signed in Berlin by a detailed declaration of policy with regard to the Germans as a whole. German responsibility for reparations, German economic and industrial life, German communications and merchant marine and German markets.

3. An assurance that in the coming Winter famine will not be the first fruit of the conquest of Germany.

4. A clear-cut decision as to whether the Allies wish to restore German industry in order to restore the devastations of the German armies or to deprive Germany of her industrial resources and thus of the means of waging war.

To Close Women's Beverage Rooms

TORONTO, July 20 (Friday) (CP) — The Globe and Mail in a newspaper story today said it had learned at Queen's Park that women's beverage rooms in the province will be closed down during day hours "as the first step towards doing away with them entirely."

The newspaper added: "It is understood the Liquor Control Board has for some time past been giving serious study to a mounting tide of complaints from scores of persons throughout Ontario concerning the women's beverage rooms. Liquor Control Board authorities are preparing to issue an order closing the women's beverage rooms during the afternoons, it was learned. This will be followed at a later date by a complete shutting down."

tions forward into the Pas de Calais—the rocket bomb coast. The Channel ports fell and the Canadian First Army drove the Germans from the Scheldt Estuary and opened up the port of Antwerp 40 miles up the winding Scheldt—a feat acclaimed by every Allied army on the Western Front.

Into Holland the army drove and in late Winter the Canadian First Army with practically all the resources of the Twenty-First Army Group at its disposal smashed the northern end of the Siegfried Line southeast of Nijmegen. Driving through the Reichswald and Hochwald it cleared the Lower Rhine.

Gen. Crerar had 500,000 men under his command for that offensive. Eight British divisions operated alongside the Canadian 2nd, 3rd and 4th Armored. This operation probably was one of the most important undertakings in the European war and it was a smashing victory.

The Rhine was crossed in March and as Germany crumbled, Gen. Crerar sent half the army thrusting into Holland and the rest into Northwest Germany. On May 5 formal surrender of the German Twenty-Fifth Army to the Canadian First Army took place.

For the home-stretch drive the 1st Canadian Corps from Italy which fought from Ortona to the Po Valley joined the Canadian Army and the entire original force was together.

Petain Trial May Be Delayed To Obtain Big Amphitheatre

PARIS, July 19 (Reuters).—The trial of Marshal Petain, former Vichy Chief of State, scheduled to open Monday, may be postponed until August 4 and take place in the great amphitheatre of the Senate in the Luxembourg Palace here instead of the Palais de Justice.

The Consultative Assembly unanimously adopted a resolution today requesting the Government to choose the largest [illegible] to ensure adequate accommodation for foreign press representatives and the public, and urging that the trial should begin not later than August 4.

The Consultative Assembly, which sits in the Luxembourg Palace, rises August 3, so that the Senate chamber would then be available.

A decision on the matter will probably be taken at tomorrow's Cabinet meeting.

The 89-year-old marshal, who will appear before the High Court of Justice in his uniform, will face a double charge of plotting against the internal security of the State, and of intelligence with the enemy.

Andre Mornet, prosecutor who will conduct the case, now has completed the indictment.

This 11-page document lists the accusations under three separate headings—material, moral and political.

Under the first heading it is charged that Petain:

1. Signed the armistice.

2. Suppressed the presidency of the republic, assumed full powers and adjourned the French Chamber of Deputies and Senate which he never convoked—this after he had been entrusted by the French National Assembly, meeting at Vichy July 11, 1940, with the fate of the republic and elaboration of a constitution.

[illegible] Petain is charged with "abhorring the republic." It is alleged that he wrote to Charles Maurras, leader of the Royalist newspaper Action Francaise, saying:

"I hope that the hereditary monarchy will be restored in France."

Petain is also accused under this heading of having been in touch with the secret Fascist Cagoulards, of having welcomed at Vichy such persons as the militia leader, Joseph Darnand, of having maintained relations with Fernand de Brinon, leader of the France-Germany Committee, and of having accepted Pierre Laval as head of the Government.

Under the political heading, it is alleged that Petain "resigned himself to defeat and accepted defeat" and that he damaged France's prestige by meeting Hitler at Montoire in 1940, when he "accepted degrading collaboration as between vanquished and victors."

Says China Can Drive Japs Out

CHUNGKING, July 19 (AP)—A dispatch passed by Chinese censorship today quoted Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek as declaring:

"Given proper equipment and supplies, the Chinese army—together with a strong American air force—can defeat the Japanese on the continent."

Sgt. Walter F. Peters, of the staff of Yank Magazine, interviewed Gen. Chiang.

Concerning recent comparisons between the American and Chinese soldier made by Gen. Chiang, Peters wrote that he told the President there was an impression among Americans in China that Gen. Chiang had said one Chinese soldier was equal to three Americans.

"It is an erroneous impression," Peters quoted Gen. Chiang as saying. "The point I wanted to bring out was that where it takes $10 for one United States soldier, only $1 is necessary for ours. To send United States troops where we can employ Chinese troops is not very logical."

Ontario Plans to Study Labor Laws

TORONTO, July 19 (CP).—The Ontario Legislature's "short and special" session wound up after four days today by approving a Government motion to appoint a select House committee to study labor legislation. Lieutenant-Governor Albert Matthews will prorogue the Legislature tomorrow.

Premier Drew, speaking to the motion to set up the committee, said it was hoped the Dominion-Provincial Conference in Ottawa next month would approve the principle of a national code and set up a committee representing all provinces.

If such action were not taken Ontario still would be in a position to go ahead with its own committee.

The Premier acceded to the request of Opposition members that the committee's composition be changed. Instead of eight Government members and four Opposition members the motion was amended to read eight Government members and four Opposition members, of whom two will be Liberals, one C.C.F. and one Labor-Progressive.

Soldiers Soaked By Burma Deluge

WITH THE BRITISH 14TH ARMY IN BURMA, July 18 (Reuters).—The worst deluge of two monsoons has hit Burma. The skies burst yesterday and violent rain lashed water-logged battlefields for 18 hours without a second's break.

Potholes became ponds, rivers rose, ditches filled and jeep tracks disappeared, as did men's ankles and knees under a cold lava of squelchy mud.

Soldiers soaked to the skin crawled under trees, tin roofs and pagodas as they sought shelter from the torrent which seeped around the stilts of the teak houses and dripped through the bamboo and matting.

Preliminary Work on Peace Road Starts

PRINCE GEORGE, July 19 (CP).—First step in the construction program of the Pine Pass Highway is under way with preliminary work started on four camps, each to employ about 40 men.

Campbell Construction Co., Ltd., New Westminster, who were awarded the 84-mile section from Summit Lake to Azouzetta Lake, and the Fred Mannix & Co., Calgary, who were given the northern section of 54 miles from Azouzetta Lake to Commotion Creek, are understood to have joined contracts in order to push work from both ends of the highway.

Preliminary work is expected to be completed by snowfall in order to push through next year. The road must be ready for use by December 31, 1947.

Although a road now runs from Prince George to Summit Lake, a distance of 32 miles, the Provincial Government plans to improve the approach to the new highway. This will entail considerable relocating of the route out of Prince George.

Kills 75 Japanese In One-Man Attack

SOUTH OF MANILA, July 19 (AP).—Throughout the weary, bloody afternoon, Pte. Manuel Perez kept up his one-man attack against the Japanese.

Ducking and twisting beneath heavy fire he threw dozens of hand grenades into strong pillboxes the enemy had erected to protect the approaches to Fort McKinley. He returned to his own lines only for more grenades.

When he had finished the little paratrooper from Chicago had killed an estimated 75 Japanese and wrecked 12 pillboxes.

The story was told for the first time today when the 23-year-old Perez was awarded posthumously the Medal of Honor.

He died one month later on another front protecting the withdrawal of his advanced patrol.

Soldiers Waited as on Parade Till Taken From Sinking Ship

The liner Windsor Castle was torpedoed in the Mediterranean more than two years ago, but censors have just released details of the sinking. Of some 2,000 British troops and a crew of several hundred aboard only three men were lost.

By DESMOND TIGHE

ROME, July 19 (Reuters).—At 1 a.m., March 23, 1943, a German plane swooped through bright moonlight upon the liner Windsor Castle, ploughing through the Western Mediterranean.

A torpedo was dropped at 100-yard range and struck the 18,000-ton vessel bearing some 2,000 British soldiers headed for the Tunisian Front.

Announcement of the ship's loss and the rescue of all but three of her complement were released at the time, but I heard a more detailed account from Capt. J. G. Brown, R.N.R., who was picked up by the British battleship on which I was serving as a war correspondent.

Today the censors released the story told me by the 57-year-old master of the Windsor Castle.

"We heard the drone of aircraft to the starboard side of our convoy," Capt. Brown said after he had been picked up. "We could see her easily and thought she was friendly. But suddenly she circled, swooped in and dropped a torpedo at a range of 100 yards.

"The torpedo struck us fair and square. The engine-room was flooded but the entire engine-room crew, with the exception of one man, were washed through the bulkhead door to safety by the inrush of water.

"I did not see a sign of panic. All the boats were lowered safely. Two Wrens aboard missed the boats and had to slide down a 40-foot lifeline. One nursing sister in the chief officer's boat got all the crew singing.

"Meanwhile, over 2,000 British troops waited patiently aboard for the rafts to be cut away. Although the ship was sinking they stood there like troops on parade until finally the destroyers came alongside and took them off."

Kamikaze Attack on British Carrier

During British Pacific Fleet operations against Sakishima Islands, British carriers were attacked by five of the Japanese suicide pilots. Although the ships bear the scars of the explosions and fires caused by the attacks, not one of them suffered more than minor damage. This photo shows one of the aircraft carriers after an attack by the Japanese planes. Columns of smoke spiral upward from the flight deck of the ship. In a few hours the fire was under control and the carrier was again in full operation.

Petain Letter to King George Is Published in Paris Paper

PARIS, July 19 (Reuters).—Letters said to have been exchanged between King George and Marshal Petain, former Vichy Chief of State, were mentioned tonight by the Paris paper France Soir in an article by Gernard Valery.

Official quarters in London stated Thursday that a message — not a letter—was sent from the King to Marshal Petain. It reached him through the British Embassy in Madrid.

On October 25, 1940—the day after Marshal Petain's meeting with Hitler at Montoire, when the policy of collaboration was agreed upon—Marshal Petain received a letter from King George, said the France Soir article, assuring the marshal that Britain would fight through to victory and that the French people would share the fruits of that victory.

Petain replied to the letter, according to the article in France Soir, in these terms:

"Your Majesty's letter has had my full attention. The French people, after having fought side by side with British people, have profoundly resented the aggressions by the British Navy of which our country has on several occasions been the object, as well as the support the British Government has accorded to rebel Frenchmen.

"Without abandoning its calm, the French Government has endeavored to avoid everything which could aggravate the situation. It will for its part undertake no unjustified attack, but conscious of its duty it will enforce respect in honorable conditions, of the vital interests of the French nation.

"In view of the links which bind our two countries it is with great pain that I see myself obliged to speak to Your Majesty with such frankness.

"It is in my view however the surest means of calling Your Majesty's high attention to a state of affairs for which the French Government is in no way responsible."

France Soir said the existence of this correspondence "has been known for a long time to diplomatic circles in London and Paris, but until Monday last the British refused to publish it for fear of being accused of trying to influence the Petain trial.

"But in view of the interest which such revelations have for France, this correspondence was passed to the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs at the beginning of this week."

At Oran, Algeria, on July 3, 1940, French naval units which refused to comply with British conditions were attacked by a British force under Admiral Sir James Somerville.

B.C. and Quebec Flyers Missing

VANCOUVER, July 19 (CP).—Western Air Command announced today the names of two R.C.A.F. airmen missing after the crash of a twin-engined aircraft in Sabina Strait 40 miles northwest of Vancouver.

They are F.O. Charles O. Middleton, New Westminster, the pilot, and Flt. Sgt. William M. Turnbull, Verdun, Que., the navigator.

A fishboat crew witnessed the crash but found no traces of any men when it reached the scene in an area where low flying is authorized when ordered by air force officials.

FIGHTERS FIRST!

Millions of battle-weary veterans must get home for furloughs, then move back to camps for pre-Pacific training.

For them these trips ARE necessary.

And, just as necessary to the country for which they are fighting!

No. 1 job of Great Northern's passenger service is moving fighting men first. On the Empire Builder and the railway's many other trains, space for civilian travel now is at a minimum.

The Office of Defense Transportation order that over-night sleeping car service on runs of 450 miles or less be discontinued on July 15 will mean considerably less space for civilian travelers.

Great Northern is confident that it can continue to successfully meet its obligation to the men in uniform if everyone will think, "Fighters First!"

Leopold Says Surrendered to Assure People Military Rule

ST WOLFGANG, Austria, July 19 (AP)—King Leopold of Belgium said today he surrendered himself to the Germans in May of 1940 "Because I felt I should stay with my people and also because I felt that with me in Belgium the Germans would rule the country on a military instead of a civilian basis"

[illegible] a reporter for the United States Army newspaper Stars and Stripes, the 43-year-old monarch also declared that he surrendered his country because it was impossible for it to fight any longer at that time

King Leopold has been sharply criticized by some Belgians for surrendering both himself and his forces. Some Belgian groups have demanded that he abdicate After conferences with Government leaders, he has decided not to give up his throne but to remain away from Belgium temporarily.

He told Western today he would not quit the throne until the Belgian people have "a democratic opportunity" to select their own leaders in "a free and honest election"

King Leopold reiterated that "There is no truth in the evil stories spread in the early years of the war that my surrender was premedi- [illegible] Nazis"

"I am human and I have made mistakes," he said, "but they were mistakes of method not of principle

I have a clear conscience which, I believe, cannot be said of many people whom I trusted"

"I surrendered myself with the words 'I am your prisoner' just like any other soldier," he said.

"I did this instead of fleeing to France or England with some of my ministers," he continued, "because I felt that I should stay with my people and also because I felt that with me in Belgium the Germans would rule the country on a military instead of a civilian basis

"This happened, and I believe that it was for the best interest of my people

"As a matter of record, the Government was changed from military to civil soon after I was sent to Austria by the Nazis

"I was a prisoner of war and I was treated like one"

The interviewer said the king looked harried and did not smile often He talked slowly and betrayed nervousness by a twitching of his hands

Asked about his greying hair King Leopold said "It became like that in the last five years"

He emphasized that after his rescue from the Germans he was treated as a "guest" by United States soldiers and was not detained in St [illegible]

impregnable was smashed, our troops were cut off from their general staff, baffled, bewildered, dispersed, exhausted This is that 'revolution in the art of war' which, on January 26, 1937, I had described to the Chamber, when, once more pleading for an armored corps, I declared "We have not a single day to lose!"

On May 18, 1940, when General Corap's army had been smashed, France invaded and a German armored corps already past St. Quentin, the Allies' armies in Belgium were threatened with immediate encirclement It was then that I appealed to Marshal Petain and General Weygand, as the last two surviving heroes of the earlier war, in whose patriotism I, like every other Frenchman, believed

"Three weeks later, we had been beaten on our home territory But we still had the second largest fleet in Europe, and the second largest colonial empire in the world

We were bound by the pledge between the Allies not to sign a separate armistice.

It was my intention to continue the war in North Africa. I had made arrangements there for this purpose At the dramatic meetings of the French Cabinet in Touraine and at Bordeaux, I struggled for the honor of France against the two "heroes" of the French army. Despite our fleet, despite our empire, despite the pledge which France had given, Marshal Petain, General Weygand, Admiral Darlan, the army chiefs and many of the ministers wanted to surrender I preferred to give up my office rather than adopt such a policy

Petain become my successor He urged me to accept the post of Vice-President of the Cabinet and later to take over the French Embassy in Washington I refused both

Georges Mandel and I were arrested on September 6 1940 by decree We were confined in the castle of Chazeron, with Edouard Daladier, Leon Blum (former Premiers also accused by Petain of fostering the war) and General Maurice Gamelin (commander-in-chief of the French army during the early part of the war)

Petain intended to prosecute both Mandel and me for the "crime" of having refused to surrender But he came up against the conscientious scruples of three lieutenant-colonels acting as secretaries of the courts-martial who refused thus to disgrace themselves

HITLER INSISTED ON CONDEMNATION

But Hitler insisted on our public condemnation So at the instance of one of Hitler's ministers, Petain on October 16 1941 condemned us by decree as being among those responsible for French defeat—sentenced without being charged, without being heard without even being told why

The next year was spent in the damp buildings of the Fort of Portalet The very day the Wehrmacht invaded the "Free Zone" November 11 1942 an S.S officer came to take Mandel and me to Berlin I telegraphed to Marshal Petain. The question to which you must reply on your honor is are you going to hand over your former chief to the enemy?

For this Marshal of France however honors seems to play a minor role

In my cell at the sinister camp of Oranienburg, where I existed for six months in perpetual silence as if buried alive, my spirits were still high Not for a moment did I regret the course that I had taken I did not regret having been a warmonger having besought France to pull herself together, to arm and to seek alliances and having refused to agree to her surrender at the cost of her broken word

When my secretary enquired why I had been arrested a Gestapo officer at the Ministry of the Interior in Paris replied "Monsieur Paul Reynaud is our greatest enemy"

Yes I am prouder of the five years I spent in prison than of all the rest of my political career

ONLY MAN WHO KNEW HISTORY

As Premier from March 1940 onward I was the only man who knew the complete history of the Armistice and its causes I was the only one to simultaneously communicate with the statesmen of our Allies their ambassadors the French army chiefs the president of the republic the presidents of the two legislative chambers, and the Cabinet ministers. I leave it to others to judge whether what I have to say is worth while

I never kept a diary before I went to jail When I was in the Government, I had other things to do besides taking notes for the purpose of providing future generations with information about myself But amid the silence of my French and German prisons I went over my recollections I compared them with those of Georges Mandel I studied the official and private documents that I had with me some of which have not been published reports of the Supreme War Council of the War Committee, of the Supreme Inter-Allied Council

This story of the struggles of a French politician between two wars will help people I hope to realize why France was unable to overcome the difficulties that confronted her

And it is above all the origins of our mistakes that must be revealed if we want to cure ourselves of our defeat"

Halifax Explosions

Several times during this war Halifax seemed to have been playing in hard luck. It was so again this week when an explosion or fire of undetermined origin set off ammunition in a Royal Canadian Navy depot, precipitating a night of horror for scores of thousands of Haligonians and residents of Dartmouth. Fortunately, in so far as is yet learned, the human casualties have been light—one missing and up to 12 injured. It might easily have been far worse, with four heavy explosions and a direct threat to the main magazine in the Bedford Basin area.

As matters rest, the fires have been controlled, and there appears a good chance that the havoc wrought by the successive explosions in a day and a night will end there. As it stands, Halifax has been seriously struck by this ill-fated mischance. Property damage, from wrecked buildings to broken glass, may be extensive in sum. More than 4,000 people were evacuated from their homes in the area affected, and they have spent a miserable time in the open fields, not knowing if even their homes would be saved. Shipping was moved, and all normal precautions that could be taken after the event seem to have been effected.

The control of the fires resulting from exploding ammunition and rocketing shells undoubtedly saved Halifax from a disaster. Many will recall the ship explosion in midharbor in 1917, which was attended by an appalling list of casualties. Fortunately, the main magazine at Bedford Basin was not touched off as it might easily have been by random missiles at the height of the explosions and resultant fires.

The sympathy of the Canadian people will go out to Halifax. Whatever may be required in the way of relief or supplies will be forthcoming, and without stint. From present reports, it would appear that the end of the tragedy has come. Everyone will hope so. Halifax has borne a stout part in the war from the opening day. It has grown large under the impetus of war activity, and few cities in Canada have played a more active part in the war. It is regrettable that any such mischance should now mark that record with a tragedy, however confined its immediate results.

An official inquiry into the cause of the explosions of course will be initiated. It should be established what started the fire, and how so much ammunition was accessible to the path of the flames. Also, it would seem there will be men to commend for their daring—including a Canadian padre, who walked into an inferno to bring out an injured man, at the risk of his own life. That was finely done.

The Royal Visit

The visit of Their Majesties accompanied by H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth, to Northern Ireland has drawn the response which always it will draw from loyal Irish hearts. The visit was made under unusual, perhaps unique, circumstances in that three members of the Royal Household traveled by plane to Belfast, where they received a warm-hearted, Irish welcome. His Majesty addressed the Ulster House of Commons thanking Northern Ireland for its part in the defeat of the common enemy, Germany. He stressed, too, that the war was not at an end, and would not be until the outright defeat of Japan.

As in most wars, the Irish have taken a part in the present world conflict. While their service was by no means confined to those enlisting from Northern Ireland—it was expressed through nearly every regiment in the British army—none the less it was fitting that the thanks of the Empire should be expressed to the Ulster Parliament, and that has now been done.

It was an Irish regiment that drove the Germans out of Louvain at the point of the bayonet in the desperate days of 1940. Irish men have cropped up everywhere on land, at sea and in the air, and they have given a fine account of themselves. There has been nothing half-hearted about these men, as there has been nothing half hearted about Northern Ireland. Numbers of them have laid down their lives in the cause of human freedom, and history will so record.

Veterans' Homes

Some districts in the Greater Victoria area have objected to the official plans for the erection of veterans' homes in those areas. The objections, when traced down, do not turn upon any unwillingness to co-operate, but on the contrary upon the belief that these plans are too rigid and not good enough for the men it is intended thereby to help. That is a claim that should be examined, with light and without heat.

It is all very well for a Federal officer to come here from the East and to pick out 50 soldiers lots in a hurry—perhaps in a single day. What assurance can there be, however, that the veterans themselves will be content to build their homes precisely there? There is little or none. Men seldom do the choosing of a homesite. It is usually the women of the family who has to be pleased, and women do not often bow to official dictation in that fashion.

Then again as to the type of homes to be built. There has been some objection to the limitation and scope of the plans. Again, that does not seem to spring from any lack of a desire to co-operate, but from a conviction, and an arguable one, that these plans are wanting in flexibility if not also in imagination. On both counts, such objections should be looked into.

There is probably no disagreement whatever as to the fundamentals of the matter. Any municipality in British Columbia would donate land to any fighting man in Canada. It might go further, and ask him to select his own lot. Few municipalities, on the other hand, are likely to consent to "settlement areas," or to any stereotyped form of dwelling. Why cannot the Crown provide the building credits, and leave some initiative to the returning veterans as to how, when and where they will build their homes?

Censorship Lifting

Intimation from Ottawa is that press and postal censorship in Canada is being modified steadily, and that the latter is confined now to the mail leaving or reaching German prisoners of war within Canada. News journals throughout Canada which were placed on their honor to censor their own columns will be glad, and perhaps a little proud of the result which their combined efforts achieved. If there were times when censorship made publication difficult, those annoyances will be forgotten in the general result. The enemy was kept from knowing a great deal that he could have used to our disadvantage.

Naturally that is a story the ramifications of which the public is not aware. One instance alone must suffice to illustrate it. Canadian newspapers knew for months about the arrival of Japanese paper balloons over this Continent before the official announcement was made. It was made then only because it was adjudged that the information could no longer be of any service to the enemy. Not one paper in Canada, so far as we are aware, broke that story prematurely; and it was the same with innumerable other matters.

At the same time, censorship is irksome to the press. The unwinding of cumbersome regulations now will be welcome, and that process cannot be accomplished too fast. No Canadian newspaper would ever wittingly convey any information useful to the enemy, whether censorship existed or not. It is fair to state that despite little grievances the system worked well; and that, after some false starts, a workable plan was found and was adhered to by both parties to the contract, the authorities and the press. It was the honor system, and that trust was not misplaced.

Works Both Ways

If the Port of Victoria is important to Canada during a state of war and it is, it should be doubly important to this nation when peace has been restored. It is then that the Pacific Ocean will come into its own. Every nation bordering on it will have a ringside seat in the development of new commerce, and at greater tonnage levels than any one has witnessed before. It is for that reason that the completion of this port so that its ocean harbor will be safe and easy of access at all states of wind and tide is of such crucial importance, not alone to this community but also to Canada as a whole. This nation has few ports on the Pacific at best, and can by no means afford to neglect one of them. Every businessman knows that.

Seen in Passing

Numbers of people live their lives upon the balance system. Having done a little good they seem to search for opportunities to redress the balance immediately, so that they shall not be deemed good, nor even inclined toward that way. The good that they do will be for others, while the bad almost invariably is for themselves. As a policy, however, that leaves much to be desired.

As between the veteran of this war and the veteran of its precursor this nation should make no distinction whatever. Everything coming to a veteran in either conflict should be granted, and every unplaced man, or woman, should be reabsorbed into a satisfying life in civilian circles. They fought for the same freedom, and risked lives of equal value. It is all summed up in the phrase a fresh start.

Bureaucracy seldom settles anything. Now take sprinkling. Early risers may live in homes where no sprinkling is permitted on Sundays until the late afternoon. Late risers may dwell in houses where only early sprinkling is allowed. That result the latest decree of the Corporation turns upon whether the house number is even or odd. It is odd but there is still no guarantee that gardens will be watered—and they need it.

Harbor Wanted

Frank M. Kelley

Victorians who have to do with deep-sea shipping agree that the port has never received from the Federal Government the attention and assistance its favorable situation alongside a major Pacific trade route warrants. True, many promises have been made; and while some money, evidence of good intention, was spent on a projected harbor here during the Great War, until the work stopped. Then it is completed the amount must remain in the wasted column of the Government ledger.

To benefit fully from our geographical advantages shipping must be better protected while doing business at ocean harbor piers here. Adequate facilities for the speedy handling of merchandise should also be available. Assured of protection and prompt cargo handling more ships would call, resulting in increased revenues for Government, more sales for business houses and maybe the establishment of new industries—all of which would mean more sources of employment, the great need of any community.

Fully conversant with the port's major problems through association with the local cold storage plant and as a former president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Duncan MacBride is a confirmed believer in the practical benefits which would accrue to this section of Vancouver Island, as well as British Columbia and Canada, if certain necessary improvements, mostly long promised, can be brought about in connection with the harbor.

INTERESTS SHOULD AGREE

While Mr. MacBride very properly believes that the details of plans and designs for any harbor improvement should be the business of experienced advisers connected with the department of Government concerned with harbor works, his opinion is that all local interests should agree on a general plan incorporating the improvements considered necessary, so that there may be unanimity in the approach made to Ottawa.

For the general good of the Port of Victoria, speaking from first-hand knowledge, the former Chamber of Commerce head, still very much interested in the development and prosperity of Vancouver Island, believes that it is not only necessary to retain the shipping trade and overseas connections held before the war started, but in order that the future trade of the port can expand and develop in the postwar period it is also essential that much must be accomplished in the matter of harbor improvements and modern cargo-handling equipment.

Asked if Victoria is justified in making claims for a safe harbor and badly-needed port facilities, Mr. MacBride answered:

"Yes, emphatically, and for the following main reasons.

"The future development of Vancouver Island is of necessity dependent upon water-borne imports and exports;

"Victoria's geographical position and its relation to future development of trade between North American Pacific Coast, Oriental and Australasian ports point to expansion of our port as an entrepot.

"Historically, Victoria is the oldest Canadian port on the Pacific, and in actual tonnage of shipping making use of the port has appeared at the top of the list for all Canada.

"There are already existing in Victoria some important facilities ancillary to a modern port—grain elevator, cold storage plant, ship repairing and marine engineering shops with drydocking facilities unequaled on the Pacific Coast.

"All necessary main transportation lines of rail and highway already exist between Victoria and the developed areas of Vancouver Island, and these are capable of extensions such as the future development of the Island may demand;

"Public money has already been spent on docks and breakwater and such investment should not be allowed to continue to depreciate and become a total loss.

"That equal railway trackage and ferry facilities be made available for service by both Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railroad systems within the docking areas."

BUNKERING FACILITIES HELPFUL

In any general plan formulated and agreed upon, Mr. MacBride also suggested that "consideration be given to the provision of suitable accommodation to take care of coastal trade development as well as for ample berthage for ocean-going vessels. Modern bunkering facilities for fuel, coal and oil would also be of great advantage to the city. These suggestions may not cover all the improvements needed. They can be amplified and others added by anyone who has knowledge of the handicaps under which the harbor suffered for years.

"Since abandoning the ocean harbor project about 26 years ago the Dominion Government have not, although they derive some annual revenue from the harbor, spent money to protect or enhance its investment. The piers are gradually being eroded by wave action which the second breakwater would have prevented and the warehouses have been in need of repairs for long. If Victoria is going to get any advantages through trade expansion in the Pacific during the coming years, it is time something was being done about the ocean harbor and now."

URGES PLAN FOR VICTORY

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—Chinese Ambassador Wei Tao Ming declared today that the Allies should concentrate on defeating Japan rather than figure out a way for her to surrender.

This was his reply to reporters' questions about rumors of Japanese peace feelers and definition of surrender terms.

Observation Car

By G.B.

Two little mothers' darlings laid a neat row of jagged stones in the middle of Southgate Street, between Rupert and Vancouver Streets. If they expected to see motorists with thin tires damage them beyond repair, they were sadly disappointed, because we removed the booby trap in the dark of night when passing on the way home . . . Hearings of the Kilgore Committee of the United States Senate threw light on the possibilities for renewed aggression by Germany. Committee members received facts and figures on vast stores of dyes and chemicals, iron and steel, nitrogen, coal and tar, synthetic textiles, rubber, petroleum products, aluminum and machine tools in Germany. They also learned that Germany's secret assets were $200,000,000 in Argentina, $250,000,000 in other parts of Latin America, $222,000,000 in Leichtenstein, $27,000,000 in Portugal, $200,000,000 in Spain, $76,100,000 in Sweden, $300,000,000 in Switzerland, $30,000,000 in Turkey, $70,000,000 in the United Kingdom, and $340,000,000 in the United States, a total of $1,715,000,000 . . . Newspaper stories about tons of meat going rotten in Eastern Canada because consumers did not have sufficient coupons to purchase it helped to end meat rationing last time. There is a former Toronto man now living here who conducted a survey of meat spoilage through rationing in Ontario, and the unchallenged figures he compiled on wastage were staggering . . . While municipal councils talk and bicker about the provision of temporary housing, the situation grows steadily worse. It is the old story of too little and too late.

A REPLY

Sir,—Ellen Hart preaches the gospel of freedom in 600 words and this would seem to border on privilege, but her letters are so interesting I would not wish them shorter. She grasps at a straw, however, in bringing in the vote of the home defence troops, since it was clear I meant the overseas vote. I agree that Mr. King is not a popular or colorful figure. He neither drinks nor smokes and is further handicapped by being a student and deep thinker so naturally he took some booing but was content to wait for a more authoritative verdict. It takes more than a few boos to knock out a politician who is worth his salt, and down the ages many good men have been growled at and survived. The point about acclamation writing finish to a constitution is on a par with the inference that I am against free speech and a free press simply because I said it was sometimes wise to let well enough alone, especially so soon after an election. Constructive criticism is always in order, of course, but hinting darkly at enemies without naming them is a regrettable departure from the usual style of your correspondent. The most surprising thing about her letters is that she evidently expects as much freedom in war as in peace. I have no brief for Mr. King but it is well understood among Canadians that if liberty and freedom are the things most prized by the people, then undoubtedly Prime Minister King is the leader most capable of adhering to them in Canada today. And it is almost certain that an over-application of these same laissez faire principles so dear to the heart of your correspondent and the Prime Minister will have as a result another election probably in three years time.

they too would explode to bring a major catastrophe. The main magazines are located in a newer section of the magazine area, developed during the war, and some distance removed from the scene of the explosions.

A main factor in the rapid spread of the flames in the original area last night was the destruction by the original blast of all power lines operating pumps. The devastated area, some 400 acres, comprised one-third to one-half of the total magazine district.

Persons returning to their homes in the north end of Halifax tonight found most of their windows smashed out, mirrors torn off the walls, doors blown open, dishes smashed, and other damage.

Many citizens in Halifax and its surrounding areas will not return to their homes tonight as a fire is still burning at the magazine, and although it is reported as being under control, they are taking no chances.

NUMBER OF MISSING STILL IS UNKNOWN

So far, only one man has been officially listed as missing while unconfirmed rumors have the figure of missing persons ranging from six to 12. About 25 have been treated for various injuries, mostly minor, in hospitals and first aid posts.

Five men from the Veterans Guard unit on duty at the magazine are being treated aboard the Canadian hospital ship Letitia.

The Letitia was turned over for emergency use following the blast. The 700 servicemen she brought home Monday all were out of the area before the explosions started, but 58 other wounded veterans were moved from Halifax military hospital to the ship today, in addition to the five injured members of the Veterans Guard. The move was made to free the hospital facilities for possible heavy casualty clearance.

Many of those injured had been cut by flying glass from some of the thousands of windows shattered within a radius of 20 miles of the blasts.

There was an unofficial report that two bodies had been brought to a service hospital at Bedford, 12 miles from the city, but this could not be confirmed. According to another unofficial rumor some men were missing from a naval frigate that had been loading ammunition at the magazine's jetty when it first exploded last night.

There may have been some casualties inside the magazine but men so far haven't been able to get close enough to find out.

Hundreds still make their homes in the open today. Special sanitary arrangements were being made for the evacuees by the city, while Red Cross and other volunteer workers were distributing food under direction of the army.

It was learned that a left-over glass supply from the V-E Day riots will help replace windows broken in last night's explosions. A sufficient supply was ordered last May by one glass firm which will take care of the new damage and the dealers will be ready to replace the glass as soon as it is assured the damage is finished.

Action of a group of soldiers in averting a possible panic aboard the Halifax-Dartmouth ferry when the first explosion occurred yesterday was praised today by men and women who were passengers aboard the vessel.

The first of four thunderous detonations utterly destroyed all buildings inside the magazine.

Thereafter blasts came one after another, with a loud detonation at 12 20 a.m.

The third explosion, and by far the loudest of all, rocked the area at 3 55 a.m. and put all electrical power in Dartmouth and Halifax out of operation for at least 15 minutes. After a flash of fire which lit the whole sky as bright as daylight another roar split the air seven minutes later at 4 02 a.m.

The whole civilian population of Dartmouth was evacuated in trucks, buses and cars which were pressed into service and approximately 17,000 people were moved to outlying areas.

In Halifax, too, the north end was evacuated. Thousands of people who had to move spent the night sleeping in the Halifax Armoury, where they were supplied with army blankets.

Attack Japan

at the entrance to Tokio Bay Wednesday at 11 p.m., continued the bombardment into the early hours of Thursday.

This fourth bombardment of the Japanese mainland by American and British warships in six days followed by a few hours the fleet's carrier aircraft raid on remnants of the Japanese navy at Yokosuka Naval Base in Tokio Bay.

Both the bombardment and aerial targets were within 55 miles of Emperor Hirohito's palace in Tokio. It was even possible that, with favorable atmospheric conditions, Hirohito and his aides might have seen flashes across the night sky from the naval salvoes.

Admiral Nimitz' communique said one large explosion was observed in the target area.

Tokio claimed the reason no planes or ships have yet been sent against the greatest attacking naval force of history was that the Japanese Command had found the challenge not worth meeting.

Implication of all Tokio broadcasts were that Japan was saving every bit of air and sea power she has left for the expected invasion battle.

Tokio radio claimed that 40 of 250 planes it said made the raid on the Yokosuka base were shot down. There was no Allied report on losses.

Canada Has Still to Ratify World Bank; U.S. Senate Acts

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP).—Canada has not yet brought the Bretton Woods Plan before Parliament for ratification, it was noted tonight after passing by the United States Senate of legislation for American participation in the World Monetary Fund and Reconstruction Bank agreed upon at Bretton Woods.

Canada is scheduled to deposit $325,000,000 in the funds to be set up under the plan. About 25 per cent of the deposit would be in gold and the remainder would be held in the Bank of Canada from which the fund might draw if Canadian dollars were needed by any other country.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—The Senate passed and sent back to the House today legislation for American participation in the World Monetary Fund and Reconstruction Bank agreed upon at Bretton Woods.

The vote was 61 to 16.

Expected House approval of two minor changes made by the Senate will send the bill to President Truman for his signature. When sufficient countries have acted similarly, the way will be paved for establishment of a $9,100,000,000 bank for reconstruction and development and an $8,800,000,000 fund to keep the world's currencies stable.

U.S. TO CONTRIBUTE $3,175,000,000 CAPITAL

The United States will contribute $3,175,000,000 of the bank's capital and $2,750,000,000 toward the fund.

Because it will be 18 months before the fund and bank projected by 44 countries at Bretton Woods, N.H., can swing into full operation, leaders sought speedy Senate passage also of a House-approved bill to boost export-import bank capital from $700,000,000 to $3,500,000,000. This would provide funds to stimulate immediate trading between Europe and the United States.

While some supporters called this a comprehensive program for ministering to Europe's ills, others made it plain they believe President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin must reach other basic agreements if the war-devastated continent is to revive its trade.

Pacific Plans Go Into Late 1946

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP).—Army and Navy leaders are planning for the war against Japan to run at least until the last months of 1946.

This is the blunt truth as of today despite a flood of rumors in Washington that some significant development is imminent in the Pacific conflict.

Military leaders, assuming the Japanese will fight to the bitter end, also are planning clean-up campaigns in China, although what happens there specifically depends on Russia.

If Russia comes into the war fairly soon—a development the chiefs of staff at Berlin could plan—the western Allies may have very little fighting to do on the Asiatic Mainland.

The military plans here—disclosed by both army and navy officials of unquestioned authority but anonymous at their own request—all are based on the view that the Japanese will do as the Germans did—fight on until they are thoroughly defeated in battle.

The recent waves of "peace talk" have left this view unshaken, although officials point to the ever-present possibility that Japan might decide to surrender at any time.

Should the enemy wish to take that step the terms still are "unconditional surrender" as explained by President Truman to mean the end of Japanese militarism but not the utter destruction of Japan.

The State Department reaffirmed yesterday that it still has no peace offers from Tokio.

FIRE ON BRITISH PARTY

ATHENS, July 18 (AP).—An authoritative source reported today that a Bulgarian band had fired on a British car near Florina, killing one occupant, wounding two others and seizing the remaining four. These four were released after having been robbed of their clothing. An official investigation was begun.

Party en Route To Plane Wreck

VANCOUVER, July 18 (CP).—Officials at Western Air Command said tonight that a ground search party is en route to the scene of a reported wrecked aircraft at the 2,800-foot level on a mountain in the Somerset Range, 15 miles southeast of Bamfield on the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Radio contact was kept with the party this afternoon but due to bad flying weather further word is not expected until some time tomorrow.

Whether the reported wreckage was that of a Liberator bomber missing since last Friday with 14 R.C.A.F. personnel aboard was unknown. The wreckage was sighted by one of many search planes last Tuesday. There were no signs of life around the wreckage.

W.A.C. said however that it was possible the wreckage may be that of some other aircraft. The Liberator disappeared while on a routine flight from Ucluelet to Patricia Bay.

Two Victoria members of the Women's Division, R.C.A.F. and four Vancouver Island men were aboard the missing Liberator.

Trial Postponed

LONDON, July 18 (CP).—Trial of William "Lord Haw Haw" Joyce accused of high treason in broadcasting propaganda for the Germans was postponed yesterday to September term of Old Bailey Court. Postponement came on a defence plea that evidence from the United States indicated Joyce was an American citizen and thus owed no allegiance to the British Crown.

Defence attorneys presented copies of "documents which we got from the State of New Jersey sealed with the seal of Hudson County and concerning a man who may or may not be—we cannot prove it at the moment—Joyce's father."

The attorneys claimed that one of these documents appeared to be a record of Joyce's birth in New York in 1906. They asked time to check the signature on the document, which they said they believed to be that of Joyce's father and to bring additional documents to Britain.

The case was originally set to be tried in the term of court which opened yesterday.

Stirring Drama Of Flying Tigers

"God Is My Co-Pilot," Warner Bros. latest film testimonial to brave men is laid against a background of exploits of latter day legionnaires. The drama starring Dennis Morgan and featuring a fine supporting cast that includes Raymond Massey, Andrea King, Dane Clark, Alan Hale and John Ridgely, is the story of it the most gallant group of volunteers in aviation history. The film, which arrives today at the Dominion Theatre, is the saga of the A.V.G. and of its hellions—the Flying Tigers. It is a tale of iron men and of their Curtiss P-40's that were "damned by words and flown to glory."

PLAZA THEATRE Shirley Temple, the screen's most famous child is sweet sixteen and no longer a child. Born in 1928, the year talkies were born, she observed her birthday on the set during the filming of Selznick-International's dramatic picture "I'll Be Seeing You," the United Artists release which is now at the Plaza Theatre starring Shirley with Ginger Rogers and Joseph Cotten.

RIO THEATRE "Song, romance" and thrilling action are combined in Warners "Guns of the Pecos," which is now showing at the Rio Theatre. Dick Foran, the handsome cowboy actor, who will be remembered for his thrilling singing voice, heads a cast that includes Anne Nagel, Gordon Hart, Joseph Crehan, Eddie Acuff and others.

YORK THEATRE Amusing outstanding characterisation and poignant dialogue are the highlights of the sprightly comedy romance "Spring Meeting" now showing at the York Theatre. This crisp, well-acted comedy stars Nova Pilbeam, Basil Sydney and Henry Edwards.

ATLAS THEATRE No picture in recent years has had such a phenomenal effect on so phenomenal a number of careers as has "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," the 20th Century-Fox filmization of Betty Smith's sensational best-seller which is now showing at the Atlas Theatre.

CADET THEATRE Anna Neagle deserting musical comedy and straight drama for the robustness of melodrama, co-stars with Richard Greene in "The Yellow Canary," a romantic adventure produced by Herbert Wilcox for R.K.O. Radio and now showing at the Cadet Theatre. As a novel British renegade Miss Neagle depicts the social outcast who seeks out a ring of saboteurs as her friends when an outraged government exiles her to Canada.

Amusements

Atlas—"A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," starring James Dunn and Dorothy McGuire.

Cadet—Anna Neagle and Richard Greene in "The Yellow Canary."

Capitol—Errol Flynn in "Objective, Burma."

Dominion—"God Is My Co-Pilot," starring Dennis Morgan and Andrea King.

Oak Bay—"Wild Geese Calling," with Henry Fonda and Joan Bennett.

Plaza—Ginger Rogers and Joseph Cotten in "I'll Be Seeing You."

Rio—"Guns of the Pecos," starring Dick Foran and Anne Nagel.

York—"Spring Meeting," starring Nova Pilbeam and Basil Sydney.

CAPITOL THEATRE Errol Flynn would rather make sea pictures than any other kind. During the filming of Warners "Objective Burma," now playing at the Capitol Theatre, he had more than his fill of water. Not the salty variety either. While shooting jungle swamp scenes on location near Whittier, Flynn was required to stand up to his neck almost continuously in muddy, evil-smelling, insect-infested water.

Star of "God Is My Co-Pilot"

Col. Robert Lee Scott, Jr., "the one man air force" (played by Dennis Morgan), scans the skies for Japanese Zeros in the above scene from Warner Bros. "God Is My Co-Pilot," now at the Dominion Theatre. The film also features Raymond Massey, Andrea King, Dane Clark and Alan Hale in supporting roles.

Selma Reyes Gives Brilliant Recital for Summer School

A dynamic style and vivid personality were important components in the highly popular recital given by the Australian violinist, Selma Reyes, for the Summer School of Education Thursday morning She and her accompanist, Jean Bulinckx, received quite an ovation at the close of the program and were recalled for two encores

[illegible] tic as well as authoritative readings and at all times shows fine command of technique, Miss Reyes used singularly fine judgment in choosing two such definitely contrasting schools of composition as that of composition as that of Paganini, representative of the early 19th century, and Szymanowski, of the 20th, the former exemplifying the technical potentialities of the instrument, the latter its powers for portraying color and mood

Her technical facility in the Paganini "Concerto," which is pure violin acrobatics throughout, reached its peak in the brilliant unaccompanied Cadenza by Carl Flesch, Miss Reyes' teacher. This passage, written almost entirely for the double stops, was a splendid example of the gymnastic feats of which the violin is capable and was played with fine energy

Equally gratifying was Miss Reyes' demonstration of the later school, illustrated by Szymanowski's "La Dryades et Pan." From "Les Mythes," written during the Russian Revolution, they are in the best sense modern, are all program pieces, and each suggests scene, locale or incident requiring play of fancy and variety of tonal palette. Glissando, pizzicato, the mute and various other techniques were perfectly employed for the lovely effect achieved. The pianist deservedly shared in the delighted applause which greeted the numbers

Two numbers by the Spanish composer, Joaquinin, were played for encores.

Frozen Desserts Add Zest to Lagging Summer Appetites

Frozen desserts offer many possibilities for the Summer menu, as they can be made to look so exciting and appetizing, the very thing to pep up those lagging hot weather appetites. Ice cream never fails to please the children and as it is extremely nourishing should be served frequently. Parfait and mousse will do wonders in adding that party look to the informal luncheon or dinner.

Following are a few recipes that may mean a little extra effort but are well worth the trouble.

MARSHMALLOW RASPBERRY MOUSSE

1 cup raspberry juice.
20 marshmallows.
Juice half lemon.
1 cup heavy cream.

Strain juice, heat to boiling point, and add marshmallows cut in pieces with wet scissors. Cool, add lemon juice, and fold in cream, beaten until stiff. Freeze in refrigerator tray at regular temperature.

MANHATTAN PUDDING

1½ cups orange juice.
¼ cup lemon juice
Sugar.
½ pint whipping cream.
⅛ cup powdered sugar.
¼ teaspoon vanilla
Two-thirds cup chopped nut meats or crushed macaroons

Mix fruit juices and sweeten to taste. Turn mixture into quart mold. Whip cream and add sugar, vanilla and nuts; pour over the first mixture to overflow mold; cover with buttered paper, fit on cover and freeze for one and a half hours. If frozen too long pudding will be icy.

¾ cup sugar
Few grains salt

Baking Success Not a Secret

Following the rules is the real secret of successful cooking to the beginner. While it is true that the finished cake can only be as good as the ingredients that go into its making, it is also true that it takes prac- [illegible] cake

Many cooks are struck with terror at the thought of making cakes. Actually it can be done quite easily by following a few simple rules. First of all, read the recipe carefully. Then assemble all ingredients. The measuring comes next, and standard measuring cups should always be used. The oven should be heated ahead of time to the specified temperature, and the pans prepared. For the easy removal of cakes, wax paper is used, cut to fit the bottom of the pan. Sides of the pan should not be greased.

Pans should be placed in the oven so that they do not touch each other or the sides of the oven. Cakes with shortening are done when the top is delicately browned and the cake has shrunk a little from the sides of the pan. If it is pressed lightly in the centre the cake will spring back. Leave the cake in the pan for five minutes, and turn out on wire rack to cool.

The cake should be cooled before frosting. Loose crumbs are then brushed off and the bottom sides are placed together with frosting or filling. In frosting cakes, the sides should be covered first, then the top, and the frosting should be spread to the outer edges with a light swirling motion.

Practice and patience are two essentials for successful cake making

ALCOHOL THREATENS TO WRECK HOME

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've been married for several years, six of which were ideally happy, but now my husband has started to drink, and he stays out late at night. This has gone on for a year, and I'm on the verge of a nervous breakdown. He says he loves me, yet hurts me constantly.

Needless to relate my pleading and talking to him are of no avail. My doctor says if I do not take this matter in hand and reorganize my life I'll have to be put in a hospital for a complete rest. But would that cure my husband, or would I only be faced with the same problem on my return?

I'm an accomplished musician, well read and a good mother to our daughter of five years. I love my home, husband and child, and friends have told me to "start a new life," as I'm only 30 years of age, and they are amazed at my husband's conduct. I've stood by him through illness and bad luck to finances. Now, for my health's sake and the sake of our child I must do something to lose this dreadful thing that has taken possession of him.

—P.A.

People begin to drink usually because they "can't take it"—whatever it may be which gives them a sense of inferiority depression, or an impending sense of fear. Alcohol dulls the senses momentarily at least. Try to persuade your husband to have medical attention. If he declines to do this, you must not only consider your own welfare but that of your child whose future is seriously involved.

1 teaspoon baking powder
1½ cups pitted, sliced dates
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup broken pecan meats

Beat eggs with sugar until very thick. Add sifted dry ingredients, beat until smooth. Add dates, vanilla and nut meats. Bake in waxed paper-lined 9 by 13-inch pan in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes. While warm, cut in 1 by 4-inch bars, roll in confectioner's sugar. Makes two-dozen bars.

ICE CREAM COOKIES

6 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons confectioner's sugar
1 beaten egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour

Cream butter and sugar thoroughly, add egg yolk and vanilla and beat well. Add flour. Drop from teaspoon onto ungreased cookie sheet. If desired, decorate with nut meats or candies. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes. Makes two dozen cookies.

1 one-ounce square of unsweetened chocolate, melted
1½ cups cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt

1 cup sour milk

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly, add egg and vanilla extract, and beat well. Add chocolate and mix well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with sour milk. Bake in waxed paper-lined 8½ by 10½-inch cake pan in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes. Frost with seven-minute frosting.

SEVEN-MINUTE FROSTING

Will Allow Nurses to Train in U.S.

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP).—Labor exit permits will be issued to Canadian girls wishing to take nurses' training courses in the United States if they cannot enter Canadian schools due to education, health or age, Labor Minister Mitchell announced today.

Due to shortages of graduate nurses in Canada, it is necessary to maintain satisfactory enrollment in Canadian nursing schools by officers in the women's divisions of local employment offices, in collaboration with the Registered Nurses' Association [illegible] closely.

Issuance of labor exit permits authorizing departure from Canada of girls qualified to enter as nurses-in-training will be restricted where it would threaten to effect enrollment in Canada.

Nurses trained in United States, which has lower educational qualifications than those in Canada, are not eligible for registration as nurses in Canada. Local employment offices thus are instructed to refer applicants to the Registered Nurses' Association to have their future position explained before issuing labor exit permits.

Risks During Surgical Operations

By Dr. J. B. WARREN

The higher the social standing the worse the surgical risk. This is due to the too favorable conditions under which the upper classes have lived for generations. Successful business men, butchers and saloon keepers, all of whom tend to be overfed, are poor risks, and again those with artistic temperaments are poor risks for surgical operations.

The thought is that plain food and regular exercise or work will make for better surgical risks.

Housing Canada's Biggest Problem

UTRECHT, Holland, July 18 (CP) —The acute housing shortage in Canada is the biggest problem faced by his Department of Veterans' Affairs, Hon. Ian Mackenzie said yesterday, but it should be solved within 18 months.

The Minister, in an interview following a tour of Canadian Army formations in Holland, said steps are being taken in three or four different directions to meet the housing [illegible] are being built by the Veterans' Affairs Department alone, some of which now are completed. The Department of Reconstruction is building others and money is being advanced for building under a national housing plan. There was an increased opportunity to get material for building, he added.

Mr. Mackenzie said he found the Canadian troops in Holland awaiting repatriation completely informed on the rehabilitation program prepared for them by the Government and, there was little criticism of the scheme.

"I am amazed to learn how much the army has done here since 'V-E' Day to inform the soldiers of rehabilitation plans," he said. "I found most troops knew as much about the scheme as I do.

"I am glad to say I was asked two or three questions I could not answer. These questions alone make the trip worthwhile. They have brought to my attention points that had possibly escaped attention heretofore. I now know the attitude of the troops with regard to these subjects.

"I shall make it my business to find answers to these problems and if legislation and regulations are not right I shall make them right. That is the great value of this whole tour."

Map of Europe To Be Redrawn

LONDON, July 18 (CP).—The map of Europe—already extensively redrafted by Russian expansion westward from the Baltic to the Black Sea—is expected by well-informed diplomatic sources here to be further redrawn at Potsdam with the amputation of a huge slice of Eastern Germany to satisfy Poland's demands.

The Warsaw regime, with backing from Moscow, has demanded the extension of Poland's western [illegible] Rivers and to a point within [illegible] miles of Berlin in compensation for territories yielded to Russia east of the Curzon line. The "Big Three" decided at Tehran that Poland should be given ample consideration for yielding territories to Russia in the east.

Transfer Control

LONDON, July 18 (Reuters).—Control of Polish railways will be transferred from Russian to Polish hands on August 1, Warsaw radio reported tonight.

Vancouver Forecast

Partly cloudy. Not much change in temperature.

EIGHT WEEKS TRAINING

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—European veterans bound for Tokio will be given eight weeks of "intensive" training before leaving the United States, the armed ground forces reported today.

West's defence in today's deal might serve as a model for those naive players who seem to feel that the declarer is equipped with X-ray eyes.

East, dealer.

The bidding:

West was well advised not to enter the auction. A takeout double of one diamond, with so much of his strength in that suit, would have been highly unstrategic, and a penalty double of the final contract would have told South just how to play the hand.

The opening lead was the diamond king. South held up the ace but took the following lead of diamonds and ran off the entire club suit. South probably realized that he would need either two spade tricks or one heart trick to round out the contract, but apparently preferred to cash in seven tricks before he risked giving up the lead, as he might by taking the spade finesse while still in his own hand.

Discarding was no easy problem, particularly for West. On the run of clubs he let go one heart and two spades, but on the last club he saw that blanking the heart ace or relinquishing a diamond would be almost the same as surrendering. Declarer certainly would lead a heart from dummy, and when West took the ace and two more diamonds, South would be in a position where he would have to finesse on West's forced exit of a spade. And West knew, of course, that the finesse would win.

Rather than give up, West blandly discarded a third spade. This left the king all alone, but (as he reasoned) how could South know that? South didn't know! Innocently, he led a heart from dummy, hoping the ace was on side. That was his finish!

JUVENILE BALL SERIES MAY BE PLAYED HERE

Victoria's first juvenile international baseball series will be played next month if negotiations now underway between the Capitol Hill Lions Club of Seattle and the Victoria Baseball Association are carried to a successful conclusion.

The Lions Club of Seattle has been interested in boys' work in the Sound City for many years, and right now it is fostering baseball among the younger residents of that Pacific Northwest town. The Capitol Hill Lions are players between the ages of 16 and 18 years, and they are very anxious to make the trip to Victoria.

Seattle sponsors of the move have contacted Art Cann, of the Victoria Lions Club, and he is vitally interested in the proposal. The Victoria member will bring the matter to the attention of the club here, and support from that source can be expected. Tentative plans call for the Capitol Hill Lions to play here next month, with the Seattle Lions Club prepared to look after the expenses involved for the trip

With the Victoria Baseball Association making a definite move this season to foster minor league baseball by the operation of the Inter-High School and other leagues, this appears like a logical time to stage the series with the Seattle team. Then, too, international competition on the sports field does much in building up friendship among young people, and we think this is one opportunity that should not be overlooked.

GATHERED FROM HERE AND THERE

From flying mares to philosophy is quite a step, but George Hackenschmidt has made it. The former wrestler, still a powerful figure of a man, is writing a book on philosophy in London, England . . And speaking of wrestlers and wrestling Maurice Tiller (The Angel), is a well-educated French gentleman who finds the mat game a very easy way of making a lot of money. . . . George Inrig, power hitter for Spruce Products fastball nine, has been powdering the 'big apple' all season. Last night his bat played a big part in the lumbermen's surprise 10-7 victory over the Eagles. . . . With prizes valued at over $375 at stake, many anglers will be at Brentwood early Sunday morning to compete in the rowboat Derby being sponsored by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association. . . . Tomorrow's benefit baseball game between the V.M.D. and the Navy promises to be a battle of wrong-siders "Lefty" Gervais, in the city for a holiday, will go to the mound for the shipbuilders, while "Lefty" Pawluk, sailor portsider, will be thrown right back at the leaders. . . . Charlie Restell, V.M.D. outfielder, who sustained two broken bones in his right leg in last Saturday's thriller between the shipyarders and bluejackets, had visions of witnessing tomorrow's benefit game, but it looks now as if the local diamond star will be detained at Royal Jubilee Hospital over the week-end . . . Many of the lawn bowlers competing in the provincial championship tournament now in progress at Vancouver will be here next month to play in the annual event staged by the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association. . . . Coach Archie McKinnon's swimmers are busy these days rounding out their training for the 30th annual international regatta to be staged at Kelowna on August 1 and 3 by the Kelowna Aquatic Association. Twenty-nine provincial championships will be at stake, and it is a foregone conclusion that Coach McKinnon's proteges will grab their share of the titles. . . . Victoria will play hosts to the 'granddaddies' of the fairways next month when they gather here for the 23rd annual tournament of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association to be held at the Victoria Golf Club from August 13 to 17. More than 100 entries have already been received for the event, according to Capt. J. V. Perks, secretary-treasurer.

American League

BOSTON, July 19 (AP).—Refusing to take advantage of Thorny Lee's generosity, Boston Red Sox today wasted many scoring opportunities while taking a 5-3 American League setback from Chicago White Sox

The 37-year-old Chicago southpaw gave the rival sockers nine hits, seven bases on balls and hit a batter, but they left 14 runners stranded, including men on third and second in three consecutive innings.

Lacrosse Leadership At Stake Tomorrow

One of the best games of the season looms as a distinct possibility in the senior box lacrosse fixture at the Willows tomorrow evening when Jokers and the Owl Drug, currently sharing top spot in the standings, battle it out for undisputed leadership

Both clubs are composed in the main of young, speedy players and have come up with some good exhibitions of the gutted-stick pastime this season. In eight games to date, the opposing squads have won five and dropped three, splitting four decisions among themselves and dropping a single decision to the Navy. In their last game, both Jokers and the Owl Drug handed the sailors a convincing setback

Oaklands and Senators will open the festivities with a juvenile fixture, scheduled to start at 7 p.m. Main contest is slated to be faced off at 8.30 p.m.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

Janathan Swift—Jonathan Swift (1667-1745) was born in Hoey's Court, Dublin, received his education at Trinity College, Dublin, was Dean of St Patrick's Cathedral in Dublin, received the freedom of the city of Dublin, founded Saint Patrick's Hospital in Dublin, died in Dublin and is buried under the floor of Saint Patrick's Cathedral in Dublin and yet he claimed that he was not an Irishman at all. He considered himself an Englishman "who just happened to be dropped in Ireland."

Benefit Game Feature Of Week-End Baseball

Highlighted by a return clash between the two top clubs—V.M.D. and the Navy—on Saturday evening, three McGavin Cup fixtures are billed for the end of the week at Athletic Park. All proceeds of the Navy-V.M.D. clash will go to Charlie Restell, V.M.D. outfielder, who suffered two broken bones in his right leg and a cracked ankle in an unfortunate accident while sliding into second base last Saturday.

Interest in the contest is mounting high among local baseball fans following the sensational 6-5 triumph turned in by the sailors last week. Navy are two games back of the pace setters and are in need of the decision to keep alive their hopes of finishing the schedule on top of the heap

In four meetings this season, the rival clubs each have taken two and in every game came up with a thrill-packed contest and will be shooting for the advantage on Saturday. "Lefty" Gervais, Vancouver Normans portsider, who toiled for the shipyarders a couple of seasons ago will toe the slab for the league leaders as they seek to even the score for the last setback. Sailors choice for the mound assignment has not been divulged but it seems certain that "Lefty" Pawluk will go right back in. Pawluk started the game last week and got by nicely for six innings but tired and had to be relieved.

First game of the Saturday double-header will bring together the R.C.A.F. and the Army, third and fourth place teams, respectively. Flyers got a bad game out of their system on Wednesday and figure to turn in an improved exhibition. Doug Button will likely go back in for the Pat Bay entry and will probably be opposed by George Boston, veteran wronghander, who is still gunning for his first league win.

Eagles and Army provide the baseball fare this evening at the Caledonia Avenue enclosure as they tangle in a crucial game. Eagles have to win this one to entertain any hopes of entering the post season play-offs for the Rithet Cup and will send Stan Douglas to the mound in an effort to grab the decision. Amero, a new righthander, will make his initial start for the soldiers. Night games will start at 6.30 with the afternoon contest on Saturday getting underway at the usual 3.30 starting time.

Five C's and Albions Meet in League Match

Determined to avenge the setback they suffered in their last meeting with the Five C's, Albions will field their strongest available line-up for tomorrow's Victoria and District Cricket Association league match at Beacon Hill.

C's, equally determined to make it two straight, will have all of their regulars on hand for the all-important fixture. Play will commence at 2.30 p.m.

Five C's team follows: Attwell (captain), Shrimpton, Harper, O. Payne, J. Payne, Hepworth, Griffin, McNair, Gardiner, Balfour Skillings and R. Rowe.

Tommy Tuckers in Fastball Triumph

Tommy Tuckers fastball squad added to their victory string at Work Point last evening when they swamped the Work Point nine leaders of the Inter-Service League, 13-5, in an exhibition game.

Winners started early and did all of the damage in the early innings, scoring consistently in the first five frames to count 11 of their 13 runs. In the meantime, Joe Bryant coasted along behind his big lead to register an easy win, easing up in the latter part of the contest to allow the losers three of their runs. Vic Burtt, Joe Travis and Bryant led the stickers with three hits apiece, Bryant including a triple and Burtt a double in their collection.

Last night's scores: Spruce Products 10, Eagles 7, Pacific Sheet Metal 6, Sports Club 6.

Battling for the top spot in the men's senior "B" fastball standings, Pacific Sheet Metal and the Sports Club put on a rousing contest at Athletic Park last night before calling it quits with the score tied at 6-6 at the end of the fifth inning when darkness called a halt to proceedings. In the first half of the twin bill, the sixth place Spruce Products nine, sparked by the heavy clouting of George Inrig, surprised the Eagles as they batted away at four pitchers for a 10-7 triumph.

In the women's division, Sports Club again moved out in front of the exciting race for first place in the first division when they took advantage of four errors in the last frame to send seven runners scampering across in a wild last inning and snatch an 8-5 victory from their close rivals, Joe Fosters. Adverts moved to the top of the second division standings by whittling out a 4-1 decision over the Hudson's Bay in the second fixture at Central Park

Rooney sent the Sheet Metal nine away to a three-run lead in the first when he homered with two on, but Sports Club made four bases on balls count and tied it up in their half. Down two runs going into the fifth, the clubmen almost pulled the contest out but could only make two singles, a double and a walk good for the tying runs. Metal workers scored once in the sixth but the game was called on account of darkness and the score reverted to the fifth, provoking a heated argument.

Two big innings—the first in which they scored three runs, and the third in which they ran wild for seven—gave the Spruce Products their surprise win. Inrig was the hitting star of the contest, crashing home five runs with a home run in the first and a triple and a single in the big third frame. Losers used four pitchers and finally halted their opponents, but the damage was done and a four-run rally in the seventh fell far short.

Held in check by Helen Pettigrew for six innings, Sports Club women's nine went to town with a vengeance in the seventh. Hard-hitting Jessie Holding powered a home run with two on to cut the margin to a single run and the winners went on to score four more as the youthful Foster's club went to pieces defensively.

Vancouver Island A Vacation Paradise

Perhaps nowhere on the North American continent is there such a diversified variety of tourist attractions as on Vancouver Island. First [illegible] where for the entire 12 months. In many world famous resorts the tourist season extends over a few months of the year. But Vancouver Island has something to offer visitors during the entire 12 months. A generally mild Winter climate makes Winter holidays attractive everywhere.

Already reports up and down the Island are booking reservations for the Winter months so that cold-weary people can escape the rigors of severe Winter temperatures elsewhere. Golf and kindred sports are enjoyable 12 months of the year and fishermen can find thrilling sport on the lakes and along the in-shore waters almost the year around.

Then, too, Vancouver Island has many natural beauty spots hardly developed as tourist attractions. There are beautiful gem-like lakes hidden in wooded valleys. There are tumbling waterfalls singing over rocky escarpments hundreds of feet high that only a few have ever seen. To those who enjoy exploring the still forests, the Island is a treasure house of adventure.

In the heart of the Island lies one of the most picturesque areas of Alpine scenery to be found anywhere. This is lovely and mountainous Strathcona Park. It covers an area of over 800 square miles of forest land, mountain valley and snowy peaks. Silver threads of many streams bind this wonderland together and glistening lakes mirror the wooded mountain slopes, while in the high Alpine meadows, there is a Summer display of flowers that rival the finest man-made garden.

These are not for the casual visitor who travels the paved highway, but for those who choose the quiet wooded trails, with the trees arching overhead and carpeted softly by the mosses and the pine needles of the virgin growth protected for all time by the Government. Here is the majesty of the great forest for all the world to enjoy.

Perhaps the most scenic of the lakes in the whole of Strathcona Park is Buttle Lake, a slim, silver sheet of water in the heart of the park. It is named for John Buttle who first explored the district in 1865. Blue-green glaciers are reflected in its still depths, and many beautiful waterfalls tumble down mountain walls to the lakeshore.

Perhaps the best way to enter this wonderland is over the road to Forbes Landing and on to Upper Campbell Lake. There a trail leads into the Park and to Buttle Lake which is over eighteen miles long [illegible] it lies at an altitude of just over [illegible]

Buttle Lake is a fine spot to make camp and from there trails lead into many interesting areas. It is possible to climb Mt. Elkhorn, and Crown Mount, as well as other lesser known peaks, where the snow lies heavy in high hidden valleys and the delicate alpine flowers bloom in riotous profusion during the Summer months, almost at the edge of the snowfields.

Strathcona Park is the delight of photographers with its wild beauty, and the lakes and streams of the area abound with trout for the fishermen. A variety of protected game birds and animals make their home in the Park and grow to know their kind is allowed to live here in peace throughout the district. They are often met on the trails in the Park.

Several resorts cater to persons who visit Strathcona Park and know the hidden beauty spots of this vacation land. Whether you wish to explore and see the beauties of this region yourself, or whether you wish to relax and glimpse them from afar, there are resorts to suit the most exacting.

Adjoining Strathcona Park lies the high and mysterious region known as the Forbidden Plateau, at an altitude of 4,000 feet. Excellent skiing can be enjoyed in the season and the season extends almost into Summer, due to the heavy snowfall. Trails reach out into the area on all sides and well-stocked lakes and countless streams hold fine trout.

This can be easily reached over a highway from Courtenay and a fine Lodge and camps take care of its many visitors during the year. A region of high peaks, many lovely lakes, deep canyons and waterfalls, the Forbidden Plateau has few equals for scenic beauty anywhere.

Many other beauty spots lie hidden in the heart of Vancouver Island, some, are known to only a few. One of these is Della Falls, reached over mountain trails and said to be among the highest falls in the world. One day this will be the mecca for visitors from all over the world. Several parties have made these falls the object of a trail trip this Summer.

Indeed from the rocky, rain-swept northern tip of Vancouver Island to the beautiful garden city of Victoria at the southern end, it is a vacation paradise at almost every season of the year.

Although during the Summer months almost every hotel, country inn and auto court is taxed to capacity, the months of early Fall are delightful vacation days too. If your favorite vacation spot cannot entertain you now, plan for the Autumn months and find a new charm in vacation time on Vancouver Island.

U.S. Bowler Sets Record At Vancouver

VANCOUVER, July 19 (CP)—Art Miller, of Bellingham, Wash., set an all-time record in the British Columbia lawn bowling tournament here today when he skipped his rink to a 24-11 victory over Jimmy Robertson, of Nanaimo, in the final of the Bowser competition, premier event in the 23rd annual meet.

The victory was Miller's third successive and was accomplished by the same four men that won the trophy in previous years. They were: Floyd Garlick (lead), Cameron Leroy (second), Ivan Dickinson (third) and Miller. The quartette also were finalists four years ago.

It was the first time in history that a rink had captured the Bowser Trophy three years in a row.

Another visiting rink, Tom Collingwood's four from Oakland, Calif., became the first holder of the new Archie Stewart Trophy, when he skipped his men to a 18 to 16 win in the final over Syd Gisby's West Vancouver outfit.

Sydney Charles (lead), Bob Dalziel (second), Charlie White (third) and Collingwood, were the winning four.

The event was the fourth highest in the open competition.

Another out-of-town rink from Portland, skipped by Jack Smith, forced its way into the final of the L. C. Jack rink competition third to the Bowser, on the Grandview green, by beating Dave Moore's North Vancouver squad, 13-11, in one of the semi-finals.

Johnny Robertson, of Cumberland, won his way into the Champions (champion of champions) singles final with a 21-14 victory over Frank Underhill, of West Point Grey.

W. Horman and Tommy Dixon, of Nanaimo, lost in the Oakland doubles semi-final to Bill Hall and Joe Bryant, of Kitsilano, 15-27.

LONDON (CP)—A silver tobacco box owned by John Churchill, first Duke of Marlborough and ancestor of Prime Minister Churchill, has been auctioned off. The lid of the box is engraved with the figure of Marlborough leading his troops into action at Blenheim in 1704.

Twenty Boats Compete in Sailing Event

Twenty small sailing craft, comprising stars, dinghies, snipes and [illegible] Yacht Club, made an animated picture on Wednesday evening as they manoeuvred near the starting line off the yacht club just before the gun sent them away on the scheduled fifth of "A" series event. The wind was northwest at the start, changing to southwest while the race was in progress. Dinghies got away at 7.35 p.m., with snipes, X class and stars following at five-minute intervals.

The course was from the club dolphin to beach mark, to Flower Island, to Cattle Point, to beach mark, to starting point. Getting a good start, some of the boats worked out nice leads by the time Cattle Point was reached, where a calm stretch was encountered, enabling the following craft to close up with the leaders and crowding them on the way in, providing some clever yachtsmanship with the freshening of the southwest breeze and resulting in some close finishes, as follows:

Dinghies—Penguin, Tellier, 8.17; Kismet, H. Ganu, 8.18.10; Teal, Wakelyn, 8.19.15; Pancho, Borchett, 8.21.30. Onaway, Love, did not finish.

Snipes—Restless, Moran, 8.17.45; P.D.Q., Corbett, 8.18.10; Redskin, Nickells, 8.20.40; Ishkoodah, James, 8.25.50; Klatawa, Moore, 8.26.05; Stormy, Kiley, 8.27.35; Pussyfoot, Golby, 9.28.15.

X Class—Iona, McKinnon, 9.19.15; Comet, Main, 9.59.45; Ariel, Dowell, 10.00.25; Arkysark, Waters, 10.45.40; Brittania, Young, 10.20.

Stars—Mintaka, Barrett, 9.17.05; Aquila, Wride, 9.22.55; Ripples, Townshend, 9.24.35; Cygnus, Cote, 9.26.15.

John Jukes was officer of the day and the starter was Fleet Captain W. Walsh. Next event of the yachtsmen's calendar will be the Fleet Captain's cruise over the coming week-end. The yachts will move out of Cadboro Bay Saturday afternoon and will rendezvous in St. Margaret's Bay overnight, returning to moorings Sunday evening.

Daily Double Pays $1,023 at Jamaica

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—For the second straight day the daily double at Jamaica paid more than $1,000 for $2 today.

Today's heavy pay-off of $1,023 for $2 was set up when Happy Indian romped home in the second race and returned $198 for $2 in the straight betting after High Tint, at $10.50 for $2, captured the first.

Yesterday's daily double was worth $1,060.10.

Greatness lies not in being strong, but in the right using of strength, and strength is not used rightly when it only serves to carry a man above his fellows for his own solitary glory.—H. W. Beecher.

City Without Ice Next Week As Companies Build Reserve

The majority of Victoria families will have to do without ice from July 23 to 28, but prospects for continued service throughout the remainder of the Summer will be quite good after that date, W. B. Wilson, president of the B. Wilson Co., Ltd., said yesterday.

In an effort to cope with the [illegible] pany is discontinuing all deliveries and cash and carry sales for a week to accumulate a sufficient tonnage of ice to meet demands for the remainder of the season, Mr. Wilson explained.

No deliveries will be made by the Victoria Ice Company during the July 23 to 28 period also, since this company relies on supplies from the Wilson company.

Mr. Wilson said that efforts had been made to purchase ice from Vancouver and in the United States so that the delivery of ice to homes might continue, but all other cities applied to are in the same position as this city.

The new plant constructed by the company last Winter is not yet in full production since some of the equipment has still not been delivered, Mr. Wilson said, but even the larger production this year is unable to cope with the demand.

In an effort to co-operate as fully as possible with the public, the company is offering free cold storage facilities for parcels of perishable food products to customers of the Wilson and Victoria Ice Companies.

Pioneer Lawyer Is 88

J. STUART YATES

Who celebrated his 88th birthday quietly with his wife and family at his Langford home yesterday. He is widely known as the "father" of the British Columbia Bar, and is probably Victoria's oldest native son.

One of the city's main streets is named after the Yates family, and its record extends back to the early days of settlement on Vancouver Island. Mr. Yates was born in Victoria in 1857, but left here for 12 years and was educated in Great Britain, where he received his M.A. and LL.B. degrees at Edinburgh and law degrees in the Inner Temple at London.

The noted lawyer has a record of 62 years' unbroken legal practice here. He is still active in his large garden and other work on his two-acre estate at Langford.

To Operate Kiln At Cobble Hill

DUNCAN, July 19.—Four years overseas gave Norman Bonner ample opportunity to think about his old home at Cobble Hill, and particularly about the limestone cliffs west of the village. He is convinced that his rehabilitation difficulties can be solved through the development of nature's assets in the rocky hills.

The last difficulties confronting Mr. Bonner in connection with import privileges have been overcome, and yesterday the order for the necessary machinery to be purchased in the United States was approved and has gone forward. In a few weeks time the very latest machinery for the manufacture of agricultural lime will be on the ground. The machinery has a guaranteed hourly capacity of three tons. The deposit is strategically located for shipment either by rail or by truck.

A brother overseas may join him in the new venture.

Businessmen to Aid Returned Veterans

A panel of 34 businessmen, representing nearly every type of business and industry in the Victoria area, to advise returned servicemen on their future careers, has been drawn up by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce for use by the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council.

Any returning serviceman wishing specific information or advice on particular business or industrial enterprises may apply in the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, Room 407, Post Office Building. The secretary of the council will arrange the necessary interview.

Veterans' Assistance

Assistance provided returning veterans in the form of war gratuities, special credit grants, and rehabilitation measures was explained to the Lions Club in Spencer's dining-room by Major Stanley H. Okell, M.C., rehabilitation officer for Vancouver Island.

He was of the opinion that "the returning men of today will be the leaders of Canada tomorrow" and maintained that "anything we do for them now will pay big dividends in the future." He asserted it was the responsibility of the Government, the individual and the public to co-operate in helping the veteran to establish himself in civilian life.

Noting there were "many sharpsters after the veterans' gratuities" he stressed the importance of all returning men seeking information through authorized channels.

"It is, and will be a great job, but if we can make good soldiers out of civilians, surely we can make good civilians out of soldiers," Major Okell declared.

Dolcy; Fingard's Venus; and Fingard's Ch. Odin. Chs. Honey and Odin are out of a litter of 18, the largest litter of Great Danes in the world. All of them have been fed Gro-Pup Cubes since its inception, for not only do our Danes really like Gro-Pup Cubes, it is a most satisfactory food in all respects."

Why breeders feed Gro-Pup
BREEDERS KNOW it is not safe to try to raise dogs on "table scraps". Dogs must have a properly balanced diet that gives them everything they need for strong bones, sound teeth, and a beautiful coat. That's why breeders feed Gro-Pup.
IT'S A PROPERLY BALANCED DIET to keep dogs of all ages, sizes and breeds at their natural best. It is easily digestible. It contains every vitamin and mineral dogs are known to need for sturdy growth and vigour.
MONEY SAVING! Gro-Pup costs about ½ the price of many other brands of dog food.
ECONOMICAL! A 2 lb. box of Gro-Pup Cubes feeds an average 15-lb. dog a week.
GET IT at grocers or pet shops in the 2 lb. box of cubes—or in the new 5 lb. bag of meal . . . and at feed stores in either cube or meal form in bulk up to 100 pounds.

Urges Action—Forrest L. Shaw, chairman of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, has sent a telegram to Wartime Housing, Ltd., urging action in the authorization of 50 houses for Victoria. In his wire to Thomas Gray, Toronto, manager of Wartime Housing, Ltd., Mr. Shaw stressed that "the need is increasing daily. Delay is causing considerable unrest and dissatisfaction."

Family Allowances—First cheques for family allowances were received by mothers in Victoria yesterday, and within the next ten days 95,000 families throughout British Columbia will be in receipt of cheques through the social security measure. In some cases cheques will be late where authorization was delayed, W. R. Bone, regional director, warned. Applications received in July will not be payable until August.

Tindle, Vancouver, and H. A. Murphy, Windsor, Ont.

Found Guilty—Donald G. Webb, a part-time truck driver, was found guilty by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court yesterday on a charge of dangerous driving. He was fined $35, and had his driver's licence suspended for one month. The charge arose out of an accident at Vancouver and View Streets on July 7, when Webb's truck was in collision with a car driven by an R.C.A.F. officer. John L. Clay represented Webb.

Stone, acting manager of National Selective Service offices here, yesterday appealed for carpenters, joiners, welders and marine electricians for an emergency job in a local shipyard. He said that there are few applicants for this type of work, and Selective Service will take as many men as they can get. Applications should be made at 534 Broughton Street.

Low Pressure—Excessive use of water between 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. causes a sharp reduction of pressure of more than 30 per cent on the upstream side of regulating valves throughout the city, G. M. Irwin, city engineer, said yesterday. As a result, he explained, pressure is lowered on the city side below the satisfactory level, thus causing insufficient pressure for domestic use at homes. Although there is sufficient water in reservoirs between here and Sooke Lake, he said the heavy flow causes friction and a resulting drop in pressure.

Discuss Route—E. N. Horsey, general superintendent of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., Ltd., told Mayor Percy E. George yesterday that the bus route to be operated from the city to the Fairfield-Gonzales terminus might differ by a block at certain portions from that outlined in the brief submitted by the company to the City Council. The infractions were watering on restricted days, and watering gardens with open hoses. Evidence was given by Corporal Cecil Pearce and Constable A. R. Beech. The offences occurred on July 11 and 12.

Loses Life in Fall at Home

Sidney George Westendale, 38, a discharged war veteran, was found dead at the bottom of the basement stairs at his home, 766 Market Street, early yesterday morning, according to a city police report.

His wife, who had last seen her husband alive at 11:30 p.m. on Wednesday, found his body at 5.45 a.m., lying in a pool of blood. Following inquiries, Dr. E. C. Hart, the coroner, said yesterday that an inquest was not necessary. In his opinion death had been caused by loss of blood from a large cut over the eye.

Mr. Westendale, born in Victoria, was employed by the C. & C. Taxi Company before his enlistment on September 2, 1939. After three years of service, one and a half of them overseas, he was discharged in 1942. He had since been employed at V.M.D., H.M.C. Dockyard, and No. 1 Conditioning Centre, Gordon Head.

Surviving besides his wife are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. C. Westendale, 1515 Cook Street, and a brother, L. W. Westendale.

Housing Problem To Be Discussed

An easing of the city's housing problem is expected next week when the facts will be laid before R. W. Mayhew, M.P., it was stated yesterday by Alderman T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the City Council housing committee.

To date no action has been taken on an application made to Wartime Housing, Ltd., five weeks ago for the construction of 50 homes for veterans, Alderman Hawkins noted, although the lots have been chosen and specifications sent to Toronto for the agreement to be prepared.

Trades-Labor Council Seeks Housing Action

Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council will ask Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, to investigate the lumber shortage in the Greater Victoria area and regulate export of lumber until local requirements for the housing emergency have been met.

The step was taken at a council meeting on Wednesday night when action of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council in asking for information on compulsory billeting was endorsed, and billeting termed a necessary evil. It was also recommended that representatives of the four municipalities meet to discuss housing for returned men and their families.

A comprehensive housing program should be instituted at once by the Wartime Housing, Ltd., and National Housing Administration, and financed by the Federal Government at low interest rates, the council felt.

A resolution forwarded by the St. Catharines District Trades and Labor Council protesting the long terms given sailor rioters in Halifax on "V-E" Day was endorsed. Letters of protest will be forwarded to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Hon. L. S. St. Laurent, Minister of Justice, asking intervention and tempering of justice with mercy and understanding.

Election Machinery

Every opportunity will be given qualified persons to have their names placed on the voters' list before the next provincial election, officials of the Provincial Secretary's Department said yesterday.

In addition to the standing machinery under which voters may be listed throughout the year, regardless of election date, the province may set up special offices and to use newspaper and radio advertising to inform the public.

The standing machinery calls for courts of revision to be held on the first Monday of February, May, August and November each year. Names may be presented for listing at any time and placed on the lists at the statutory courts.

G. M. Phillips, Vancouver, is registrar-general of voters on a permanent basis.

CANCEL AUGUST MEETING

A meeting of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council scheduled for August 21 has been canceled, J. Jeffery, executive secretary, announced yesterday.

Bishop Sexton Stresses Needs Of Victoria in Town Planning

Improvements to Victoria's waterfront, northern approach, Chinese quarter, lower Johnson Street, unimposing railway station, wooden homes and public buildings, and "rather insignificant" city hall were cited as projects in a town planning program by Bishop H. E. Sexton, in an address before the Rotary Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

BISHOP H. E. SEXTON

The city has three really outstanding structures in the Legislative Buildings, the Empress Hotel and Christ Church Cathedral, which is unique among buildings in Canada even if it is only partially completed, Bishop Sexton said.

Entering a plea that the public support extension and ultimate completion of the Cathedral, the Bishop of British Columbia said it would be the tallest building in Canada and wider than Canterbury Cathedral.

"The Cathedral will dominate the landscape for miles and miles on completion," Bishop Sexton declared.

The view of the Legislative Buildings and the grounds is one of the finest that can be seen anywhere in the world getting off a ship, the Bishop asserted. He said the Empress Hotel gardens harmonize with everything in Victoria.

Pointing out that he might expect opposition to his view among a group of businessmen, Bishop Sexton declared that too many additions to industry here must be checked since Victoria is essentially a residential area.

Immediate reforms suggested by the speaker to the Rotarians and Mayor Percy E. George and Alderman Edward Williams, who were present, were steps to control the growing smoke nuisance, increasing offensive smells, noise, and litter on the streets.

"I should like to know that there is the utmost freedom in procurement of liquor refreshment here," Bishop Sexton said, and stressed that he did not think Victorians should have to go to Esquimalt for a "refresher."

The speaker protested the cutting of trees to the edge of roads and highways, and termed the action "an act of madness." Botanical gar-[illegible] ments to Beacon Hill Park were suggested by Bishop Sexton.

He said it was good to know that plans for the arena building and a new post office were going forward.

Bishop Sexton stated that Vancouver also needed to give attention to town planning. He cited the large growth of that city.

Town planning has never been taken very seriously in Canada and there is not much evidence of such planning, the speaker pointed out. Responsibility for such planning rests on municipal officials, he added.

Co-operation of three groups are needed, he said, and named them as city officials, the general public through groups and organizations, and the professional town planners.

Aims of town planning were cited by Bishop Sexton as providing a more attractive, more comfortable and more healthy city.

Extinguish Camp Fire

Saanich firemen pumped water for one hour into the remains of a camp fire at Beaver Lake early yesterday morning, by means of a booster tank. The fire is believed to have started the night before. They responded to the call at 9.30 a.m.

At 3.28 p.m. they were at the scene of a small grass fire on the Gorge Road, near Heath Drive.

City firemen attended a chimney fire at 1729 Newton Street at 8.45 a.m. Shortly after 1 p.m. firemen fought a grass fire at Topaz Park.

But she isn't a menace and doesn't consider him eligible unless he's fancy free and therefore available.

THE RETURNED MAN AND THE USED CAR PROBLEM.

WE HAVE A LIST OF RETURNED MEN who urgently need a car in making a new start in business and it is our definite policy to give such men the first chance to buy any used cars we may have for sale. We think these men should not be asked to pay one dollar more than the official selling price, and, of course, we will not demand the trade in of another car—that would be ridiculous and unfair.

IF YOU HAVE A CAR FOR SALE

And approve of this policy, sell us your car and we will give you the highest legal price. If you sell your car in the black market some serviceman will have to pay more of his hard-won gratuity when he buys your car. Think it over.

The War Today

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
A.P. News Analyst

It seems unlikely that any major element of what is left of Japan's surface fleet was moored at Yokosuka when United States naval airmen pounced on holed-up warships at that base just inside Tokio Bay.

The whereabouts of such enemy battleships, carriers and heavy cruisers as are still afloat is yet to be revealed. By every rule of logic and military axiom they must be elsewhere.

The fact that sea-mining operations at the wide twin southern entrances to the Inland Sea have been the frequent mission of B-29 bombers sufficiently indicates the view of the American High Command as to where Japanese big surface craft are sweating it out.

Such Japanese ships as are lurking under cover in the Inland Sea could presumably effect suicide sorties through either of the two passages leading into the Pacific when the moment for that comes. Assuming that the initial phase of invasion of Japan should come on bomb-blasted Kyushu, the southernmost island where there is indication Japan's military rulers expect it, any enemy fleet remnants in the Inland Sea will continue to represent a real threat to successful landings until they are disposed of.

Closer-up advance air bases than have yet been acquired would seem to be an urgent Allied necessity in preparation for a full-scale invasion. The closer those bases can be established for tactical air-support purposes to the selected main invasion sites, the lower will be ground force casualties.

Aside from the Amami Islands, half way between Okinawa and Kyushu, there are no island stepping-stones in the south that could materially advance the site of tactical air force take-offs and refueling centres. Southeastern Kyushu, however, does contain a considerable stretch of low-lying shoreline and potential landing beaches not covered by island outposts as are the Kyushu shores on the west facing the East China Sea.

Those eastern beaches are of at least sufficient extent for landing operations to obtain advance air bases in Southern Kyushu. Close-up air support for main landing forces aiming at Japan's industrial and military and political nerve centres on Honshu would be possible from Southern Kyushu.

That probably is just what Tokio war leaders expect, a two-phase invasion beginning on Kyushu and expanding later to Honshu. If so it is obvious that the shattered fleet strength they have been preserving so carefully for many months for suicide sea as well as air attacks against invasion convoys must be in the Inland Sea.

Honor New Official

Honoring the recent promotion of B. C. Bracewell to the position of deputy minister of municipal affairs and inspector of municipalities for the province, members of the Capital City Speakers' Group held a special meeting in the Kit Kat Cafe last night.

Mayor Percy E. George introduced the guests, and M. F. Hunter was chairman.

SPORT-TIPS # 6 ROCKER CURL by "Ace" Percival

Part of every athlete's success is due to right training . . . part to right eating . . . part to knowing the inside tricks. Here's a training stunt to help build a powerful back. To star in baseball, rugby—any sport—you need a strong back!

CLIP AND SAVE!

Part 1
The "Rocker Curl" will develop a strong, supple back. Lie flat on floor. Raise upper body far as possible, arms wide apart. Return to position.

Part 2
Next raise lower body and legs high as possible. Keep legs straight, knees locked together. Alternate upper and lower body lifts until tired.

Part 3
From same position as before raise both upper and lower body at the same time. Keep legs straight and lift hard. Repeat until tired.

WHOLE WHEAT helps build strong muscles. Kellogg's All-Wheat is whole wheat in its most delicious form. It's flaked, toasted, ready to eat! Get some tomorrow at your grocer's.

Huge Bond Issue Oversubscribed

B.C. Electric's $10,000,000 bond issue, which was offered on July 16 was oversubscribed in less than 30 minutes and the monies will be added to the company's present working capital and used to finance major property expenses in carrying out the first phase of the $50,000,000 postwar plan, W. G. Murrin, president, announced yesterday

[illegible] eral stock will have a call on the new working capital to modernize the company's transportation system in Greater Victoria, Mr Murrin said The new rolling stock will be dependent on delivery facilities of the manufacturing companies.

Top priority among projects planned by the B.C. Electric will go to the provision of increased generating capacity at the Brentwood Bay plant, reconstruction work at the Jordan River hydro-electric plant involving replacement of hydraulic works and improvement in electrical equipment the construction of a new gas manufacturing plant here and rehabilitation of the local distribution system, Mr. Murrin indicated

Mainland projects include the huge Bridge River hydro development and the new substation at Main and Georgia Streets, which will be the main distributing link in the company's new "ring" system for the Greater Vancouver metropolitan area Demolition work on old buildings at the Main Street substation started on July 8

"We believe the enthusiastic public response to the announcement of this bond issue shows firm faith in both the future of the Province of British Columbia and in the company, Mr Murrin declared

Canadians Like Job in Berlin

By William Boss

Canadian Press War Correspondent

BERLIN, July 19 (CP) Berlin, mecca for all the Allies in the drive to crush Nazi Germany, still offers plenty of interesting things for sightseers and the average Canadian soldier in the Dominion's composite battalion rather likes his job

The Canadians, who marched in July 4 as part of the British occupation force, have few actual duties and plenty of time for sightseeing and almost any of the men would rather remain here until time comes for going home than be stationed in a small town or hamlet elsewhere on the continent.

Daily routine for the Canadians calls for work in the morning, organized recreation in the afternoon, with the evenings free Mornings are spent on "parades"—general smartening up, rifle drill and route marching, while those responsible for mechanical equipment do maintenance work

Athletics and sightseeing tours feature the afternoons, with swimming the favorite pastime

However, driving and poking through the gaunt skeleton of the city's heart gives the Canadians as much satisfaction as anything

Prospects for World Series Look Brighter

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—The 1945 world series was virtually assured today as the result of a request by Navy Secretary Forrestal and Admiral Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet.

They asked Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler to make arrangements to send the world series winner "on a tour (90 days) of the Pacific Ocean to play army and navy teams at advance bases."

"This shows how eager the boys in service are for the world series to be played," Chandler said, "and there no longer appears to be any valid reason for not playing the annual Fall championships"

The playing of this year's series had been in doubt due to transportation difficulties, but Chandler said he felt sure "that problem can be worked out satisfactorily"

Chandler, in an interview, said he "immediately called" the two big league presidents, Ford Frick National, and Will Harridge, American, for their co-operation.

"I talked with Harridge and he thinks it is a swell idea," Chandler said "I have been unable yet to reach Frick by phone I'll call a meeting right away of Frick, Harridge and representatives of the Secretary of Navy to work out details"
